PGE HIGHWAY BLOCKED BY 150-FT. LANDSLIDE

VANCOUVER (CP) — A rockslide blocked both the Horseshoe Bay-Squamish Highway and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line about three miles south of Britannia Beach today.

The slide, about 150 feet wide and 10 to 20 feet deep, included a number of huge boulders which would make it difficult to clear, a PGE spokesman said.

WIRE BRIEFS

Chicago Loses Hull

MONTREAL (UPI) — Bobby Hull, National Hockey League scoring champion, will be out of the Chicago Black Hawks lineup tonight when they open their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series with the favored Montreal Canadiens.

Hull, 21, who scored 38 goals during the regular season, entered a hospital today with a strep throat.

Jury Spares Killer

DOWNTOWN, Calif. (UPI) — Larry Lord Motherwell, convicted of killing an elderly Washington, D.C. widow, was spared today from execution in the San Quentin gas chamber. The jury that convicted Motherwell of first degree murder decided today his sentence should be life imprisonment.

Bank Rate Declines

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate, in its third successive major decline, dropped to 3.66 per cent from 4.17 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

Extend Winter Work

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal winter works program will be extended to May 31 from April 30, Labor Minister Starr announced today in the Commons.

Four Dead In Plane

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — Searchers shortly before noon today reached the charred wreckage of an air force C45 plane carrying three men and a woman. The civil air patrol said all four persons were dead.

Quake Causes Panic

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — A strong earthquake jolted large sections of France, Italy and Switzerland today, touching off momentary panic in a few towns and villages. No casualties or extensive damage were reported.

UN URGED TO ACT ON AFRICA

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The 29-nation Afro-Asian group decided today to demand Security Council consideration of the "mass killings of unarmed and peaceful demonstrators against racial discrimination and segregationist laws" in South Africa.

Ambassador Omar Abdel Hamid Adeeel of Sudan, chairman of the group, said the request would be filed formally Friday with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, security council president for March, for an immediate meeting.

Adeeel called council action imperative for the peace of the world.

The move followed shortly after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said the UN was entitled to discuss the South African race riots.

Crackdown Ordered On Rallies

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The South African government today banned all meetings by persons of any race in three main urban centres until June 30.

Public meetings were outlawed in the Johannesburg, Capetown and Durban areas under the order.

The order was signed by Justice Minister Francois Erasmus. It does not apply to religious services and funerals but permission must be obtained from the chief magistrate in each area before meetings of any other type.

The order was the second major move of the day in a government crackdown following clashes between police and Negroes this week.

Teams of police earlier raided offices of the African National Congress and other organizations throughout this race-troubled country.

WANT TO QUIT SOUTH AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The Canadian and Australian trade commissions here said Wednesday they are being flooded with inquiries from South Africans about the prospects of emigrating to Canada and Australia.

The Canadian commission said it received up to 70 queries daily since Monday, compared with two or three queries a day prior to Monday's riots.

City Man Stabbed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Victoria man staggered into a motel office here early today and collapsed on the floor with a knife wound in his shoulder.

While officers arrested a 27-year-old woman in connection with the incident at the Kingsway Motel, police were also investigating the stabbing of a teen-ager in a South Vancouver home.

Detained in hospital following the motel stabbing was James Storey Clarke, 39-year-old painter. Police said the arrested woman checked into the motel with him the previous evening and the cabin showed signs a drinking party had preceded the stabbing.

They said they found a blood-stained penknife on the cabin floor.

Police were called to the South Vancouver home after the father of a 16-year-old girl reported his wife had attacked their daughter with a 10-inch carving knife.

WHAT OFFER, SAYS OTTAWA

By TOM GOULD
OTTAWA — Federal government officials denied that B.C. has been offered a loan for developing the Columbia River.

For the record, British Columbia and the federal government have not yet discussed details of financial arrangements to be made on the Columbia. The reason: they do not know yet what projects will be built, and they won't know until agreement is reached with the U.S.

Ottawa has been talking in terms of a 50 per cent split of costs, but it has not been determined yet what the 50 per cent will cover—transmission lines, dams, turbines, access roads.

East Still Wintery

CHICAGO (AP) — A blizzard hit upper Michigan today and biting winds spread near zero cold across northern areas of the midwestern United States.

Voting Rights for Negroes Protected in New U.S. Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today overrode southern opposition and finally passed a five-point civil rights bill which features a new federal system for protecting Negro voters.

On passage of the bill 179 Democrats voted with 132 Republicans to pass the bill. Voting against passage were 94 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

The measure now goes to the Senate which has been deadlocked on its own civil rights legislation for more than five weeks. The senate was expected to pass the House bill pretty much as it now stands but southern foes were set to wage a stubborn battle against it.

APPROVAL PREDICTED
Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has predicted Senate approval of the controversial bill within two or three weeks.

The House measure would authorize the use of court-appointed federal referees who could step in to safeguard Negro voting rights in any southern area where abuses are proven.

Require local officials to preserve election records for two years and permit federal authorities to inspect them.

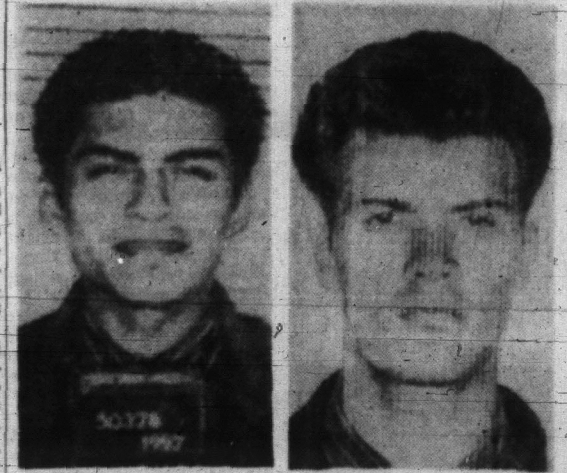

threatening to bomb any building or vehicle. This could be used against "hate bombers" of schools, churches and synagogues.

Provide federal funds for schooling servicemen's children in cases where local schools are closed in integration disputes.

The bill in general follows along lines recommended by President Eisenhower, especially on the voting referee section. It won bipartisan support from northern Democrats and most Republicans.

Make it a federal crime to obstruct school integration orders by force or threats of violence.

ROBERT RIVERA ... surrender bid
RAYMOND FARRA ... still holds out

'CONVICT GOING BACK AFTER OTHER ONE'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — One of two tough convicts holding 16 hostages at Tennessee State prison talked with prison authorities today in an apparent surrender bid. He then went back to try to get his partner to join him.

Convict Robert Rivera emerged briefly shortly before noon and a prison official said "he's going back after the other one," Raymond Farra.

The two convicts, armed with pistols believed smuggled into the prison, seized more than 70 hostages about 4.30 p.m. Wednesday and barricaded themselves in a deputy warden's office.

They later freed all but 18 hostages and then let two more go when they became ill.

Mr. K. Denies Trying to Split Western Allies

PARIS (CP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev today repudiated the idea he is trying to use his 12-day visit here to drive a wedge between France and her Western allies.

The premier, who arrived Wednesday, addressed a luncheon following a two-hour private talk with President De Gaulle.

At a city hall reception after the luncheon, Khrushchev called for a French-Soviet alliance as a necessity to ensure the security of the two countries.

He repeated his warning of Wednesday about the "dangers" of German militarism.

In a statement Wednesday night, Khrushchev called upon France to join the Soviet Union in combating the revival of German militarism. Some diplomats viewed this as an open effort to break France's strong alliance with West Germany.

Chief Albert Luthuli, head of the African National Congress, called on "Africans and all other sections of the people" to mark the day of mourning for Negroes killed in towns around Johannesburg and Capetown Monday and Tuesday.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd served notice in Parliament Wednesday that the government was studying "certain serious measures" to meet a threatened congress resistance campaign.

Tension continued high today in the Vereeniging area south of Johannesburg and around Langa and Nyanga near Capetown, scenes of disturbances this week.

Vereeniging had an air of "fathomable gloom and depression" today.

ACID THREAT MADE AGAINST WOMAN MP

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor MP Mrs. Barbara Castle today received an anonymous letter threatening her with acid mutilation for her "pro-nigger" activities.

The hand-printed message read "You have almost exhausted our patience with your pro-nigger slush. If you don't stop, look out for VITRIOL, you anti-white stand by the empire." The word vitriol was printed in capitals.

He also repeated his call for an East-West pact of non-aggression.

A few minutes before Khrushchev arrived at the city hall this afternoon, a group of young men unfurled a banner in a nearby street inscribed "Prague — an apparent reference to the Communist seizure of Czechoslovakia in 1948."

The men chanted "Khrushchev to the gallows."

Bystanders seized the banner.

ROYAL MARRIAGE NOT 'ARRANGED'

Tony: The Man Margaret Wanted

This is the second of two dispatches in which a noted reporter charts the future, on the basis of information from royal sources, of Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong-Jones after they are married.

By ROBERT MUSSEL

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Armstrong-Jones will be marrying the most eligible girl in the world in Westminster Abbey May 6, but despite the beauty and eminence of his bride, a great many Britons will not be envying him.

For marriage into the rarified heights of the Royal Family carries with it problems that were never Tony's when in drapeline levis and a leather jacket he bounded around the town with his camera, carefree and happy in his chosen profession.

This uncomplicated existence of building a photographic business by day and reeking happiness by night with the Bohemian Chelsea crowd by night came to an end last month when his engagement was announced to Princess Margaret.

He had to give up his photographic studio—for the Royal Family traditionally does not engage in trade.

He had to give up his little basement apartment under the studio—for a suite of rooms at Buckingham Palace.

And now, behind the vast stone front of the 690-room home of the Windsors, his future is being discussed. Even the most vigilant critics of the Royal Family will have nothing to cavil at here. For Tony is Margaret's choice and the Windsors want nothing but business by day and reeking happiness by night.

But how this can best be achieved is not yet quite clear according to an authoritative royal source.

Tony never earned in his best years enough money to support Princess Margaret in the luxury to which she is accustomed. His position as her husband does not call for any financial payment from the Queen's civil list.

Hence he will have to live on Margaret's state grant of £15,000 ($42,000) a year and the interest from her considerable personal fortune. He probably doesn't like this but it is one of the hazards of marrying a princess.

This royal source said Tony probably will receive a title, but it may not be for two or three years unless the Princess makes a direct request before then to her sister, Queen Elizabeth.

(Times News Services)

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill has shown that dunces should not be bullied at school, a Liberal peer said Wednesday.

Lord Esher, protesting against excessive examinations during an education debate in the House of Lords, said some of Britain's dunces have done great things.

Churchill became a great prime minister even though he was bottom of his class at Harrow, he said. W. B. Yeats, the poet, had a hard time learning to read and biologist Charles Darwin was the despair of his parents.

"My heart leapt when I opened the book on the life of Sir Winston Churchill and read the first chapter heading: 'The Backward Boy.'"

"He was our great leader, the leader of the dunces," Lord Esher said. The present generation is "hag-ridden with examinations" and called for an end to the examination given to school children in state schools at age 11 to determine whether they will follow an academic career.

MAMIE VAN DOREN wins divorce

LONDON — Husbands who drink in pubs when they ought to be home drive their wives to smoking, said a social service review published Wednesday. A three-city survey indicated that 49 per cent of the wives of pub-crawlers smoke a lot. Only 32 per cent of the wives of men who don't frequent pubs are smokers.

LONDON — A London policeman was reported Wednesday to have sold London police helmets to tourists for £10 each.

The man's colleagues reported the helmets missing from their hooks at a police station.

Ten of the helmets, the newspaper says, were sold to American and Canadian visitors in the last six months.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Actress Mamie Van Doren was awarded a divorce Wednesday from her husband, Ray Anthony, when she testified the band leader had no interest in their marriage.

SAN FRANCISCO — Lance Reventlow, one of the world's richest young men, and actress Jill St. John, will be married here tonight.

The ceremony will be performed in the hotel suite of the bridegroom's mother, dime store heiress Barbara Hutton.

OCALA, Fla. — Police found themselves locked out of the city jail Wednesday.

U.S. Offers 'Proof' Of Berlin's Status

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today formally rejected Russia's claim that Berlin is part of the Soviet-controlled East Germany.

The state department produced documents in English and Russian which it said "clearly indicated" that Berlin was designated as a separate area to be jointly occupied.

The documents were signed by Soviet, American and British representatives in London on Sept. 12, 1944—before Berlin had been captured by Soviet forces.

Reporters were handed a photographic reproduction of the original English and Russian texts which spelled out the zones the troops of each would occupy.

The state department's action was an effort, in advance of East-West summit talks on Berlin's future, to nail down the allied legal right to remain in West Berlin until a single peace treaty has been signed with all Germany.

The documents made clear that the Berlin area was not 'part of or on' the territory to be occupied by any of the powers under the agreement, the department said.

"Rather, the agreement clearly indicates that Berlin was designated as a separate area to be jointly occupied. 'The allied military forces have remained in Berlin without relinquishing the rights derived from the military defeat of Nazi Germany.'"

"There is, therefore, no basis for suggesting that Berlin has somehow been mysteriously merged with or placed on the territory of one of the occupation powers."

RADIOACTIVE THREAT SENDS 600 FROM HOMES

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Police evacuated between 500 and 600 persons from a four square block area here early today when a truck carrying radioactive castings hit a train at an intersection.

However, it was soon determined the radioactivity was so low as to be not dangerous and the residents returned to their homes in about 20 minutes.

CN Revenues Up But Still in Red

OTTAWA (CP) — Revenues, 500,000 also helped whittle away reductions in costs which otherwise would have been left Canadian National Railways with a 1959 deficit of $43,600,000, the publicly-owned railway reported today.

Reversing a trend that began three years ago, operating revenues climbed by $35,300,000. Record income from express and communications and an extra $28,000,000 in freight revenues—due mostly to higher rates—more than offset a dip in passenger revenues.

Operating expenses, altered the 1958 pattern by rising $20,800,000 largely because of a wage and fringe benefit bill that was up $21,400,000. A non-recurring expense of $7,29,600,000 were recorded in 1957.

The report, tabled in the Commons by the government, showed operating revenues of $740,165,041—highest since the record $774,800,000 in 1956—compared with $704,974,410 in 1958 and $753,200,000 in 1957.

Water Hike Explained For Esquimalt

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtel said Wednesday that councilors and residents will get an opportunity to hear the city's reasons for a proposed water rate increase.

City water commissioner James Garnett will explain the boosts in rates for water sold by the city to Esquimalt residents at the municipal council meeting Monday.

The increases, as high as 50 per cent in some cases, must be approved by the Public Utilities Commission before going into effect.

IN PARLIAMENT

Indians Must Be Sure They Won't Lose Vote

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—A Senate committee studying government measures to give the federal franchise to all Canada's Indians considered today an amendment to make it "abundantly clear" they will not have to give up any ancient rights.

The amendment was proposed by Senator David Croll (L. Ontario).

Senate Opposition Leader W. Ross Macdonald said the committee should "make it abundantly clear what we are doing" regarding the legislation.

At present, four categories of Indians have the federal franchise on reaching 21—war veterans and their wives, Indians living off reservations, those in the Yukon and Northwest Territories where there are no reservations, and reservation Indians who sign waivers agreeing to pay taxes on income earned on the reserve.

It was around this last category that most of the discussion turned.

Senator Macdonald said some Indians are worried about being given the vote because they are afraid they would lose some of their rights. They felt the government should publicly promise that their rights will be protected.

The present measures did not specifically state that those Indians who had signed waivers in order to vote would be released from them after the new measures came into effect.

Hutterites Defended By CCF Member

A CCF MP angrily accused Jack Horner (PC Acadia) of religious discrimination.

Erhart Regier (Burnaby-Coquitlam) said Mr. Horner was using the Hutterites as "whipping boys" in the Commons to further the aims of Western farmers who were "green with envy" at the successful operations of the Hutterite colonies.

Mr. Horner urged Tuesday that the Hutterites be made subject to income tax as farmers without benefit of exemption on the ground that their farm colonies are operated as charitable communities.

Mr. Regier said Canada, rightly or wrongly, loses hundreds of millions of dollars in revenue every year because the commercial operations of religious groups are not taxed.

Why did Mr. Horner pick on 6,500 Hutterites?

Mr. Regier said the Alberta Conservative was advocating religious discrimination and that he had been glad to learn that Mr. Horner had not been speaking for the Conservative party.

Mr. Regier said he has no connection with the Hutterites and that they had not asked him to speak for them. But they had lived in Canada in peace and harmony and when attacked deserved a defence.

There was a vast number of religious and ethnic minorities in Canada, even one known as the Hornerites.

Mr. Horner was trying to excite religious prejudices, the CCFer said.

The Tory denied this. Mr. Regier said Mr. Horner was not concerned with the loss of revenue to the government.

His main desire was to limit the ability of the Hutterites to buy more land. The "capitalist neighbors" of the Hutterites were "green with envy" and had elected an MP to appeal to the government to tax the Hutterites.

'How Can We Get Rid of Hal Banks?'

The government was urged to cast around for some way of transporting Hal Banks, head of the Canadian branch of the Seafarers' International Union, out of the country.

Douglas Fisher (CCF, Port Arthur) said Mr. Banks is probably doing a pretty good job of gumming up the transportation works in Canada. He intended to ask CNR president Donald Gordon's opinion on the question.

He said Mr. Banks was brought to this country from the United States by the Liberal government and tended after his arrival to regard the Liberals as his Ottawa branch. In recent months he had been forming alliances and combinations to extend his power.

Mr. Fisher suggested the government see if there isn't some way of having Mr. Banks transported elsewhere so that Canada wouldn't have to contend with his tactics.

6-Mile Fishing Zone Plan Presented to Meet by U.S.

GENEVA (AP)—The United States insisted today that trawler fleets must retain the right to operate on their traditional fishing grounds in foreign coastal waters beyond a six-mile limit.

The demand was presented in a formal proposal at the 84-country sea law conference here by U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean. The proposal urges the maritime meeting to set a maximum six-mile limit for territorial waters.

Dean also proposed that coastal states should have exclusive fishing rights in an adjacent six-mile water belt, but should be bound by international law to admit foreign trawlers which operated regularly in that zone between Jan. 1, 1953, and Jan. 1, 1958. The annual catch of these trawlers should be limited to their average annual catch during that period.

Dean's proposal aims to protect regularly take a huge catch of salmon and halibut off the Canadian coasts. Canada is asking exclusive fishing rights in coastal waters up to 12 miles, but Canadian delegate George Drew is reported preparing a statement to the conference in which Canada would offer bilateral fishery agreements to the U.S.

The bargaining position of the big Western seafaring countries is weakened at the conference, American officials contend, by the difference over fishing rights between Canada, Iceland and Norway on the one hand, and the United States and Britain on the other. But all are resisting attempts by the Communist, Latin American and Afro-Asian blocs to extend the territorial sea to a maximum limit of 12 miles.

In his proposal Dean suggested that disputes over foreign fishing in the outer six-mile belt should be settled by a five-man commission composed of nationals of countries which are not involved. The United States would continue to abide by the traditional three-mile rule as long as there was no agreement.

What's the Hurry?

MR. DIFENBAKER, WHO was a master of parliamentary delay in his opposition years, protests rather plaintively that the Liberals are holding up the business of the House of Commons.

Undoubtedly they are, as they must in doing the Opposition's proper job of criticism. They are holding up business in an attempt to secure a clear statement of government policy on many vital matters such as defence, agriculture and unemployment.

So far they have failed. But meanwhile the Government itself has delayed the progress of the session by failing to push forward many matters of major importance—the Bill of Rights, for example, the new machinery of constitutional amendment, the revision of the Combines Act, which, with better arrangement of the agenda, could have been cleared away before the introduction of the budget, the largest business of the session.

It is just as well, however, that these important decisions should not be rushed. What is all the hurry about?

One might think, to hear Mr. Diefenbaker's complaints, that Parliament must prorogue by mid-summer or bust. There is no reason why it should not sit through the whole summer and into the autumn if it needs more time to give its business proper consideration. That is what it is paid for, though perhaps inadequately.

Mr. Diefenbaker announces, as if it were a last desperate threat, that at this rate he may have to call a second session in the autumn. And why not?

It is already quite clear that the present schedule of a single session, starting in January and finishing in midsummer, is inadequate for the massive annual business before a modern Parliament.

Like that of Britain, the Parliament of Canada will soon find it necessary to sit most of the year, with appropriate holidays from time to time. Like any private business, Parliament is becoming a full-time job and that fact will have to be recognized, with appropriate pay for the members.

By the present unrealistic arrangements, Parliament assembles early in the year, conducts a leisurely argument through the spring, and then, in the panic of midsummer, when Ottawa's weather is oppressively hot, the great decisions are rushed through and billions of dollars are appropriated in a few hectic days.

It would be far better to open the session in the autumn, complete the general debates and clarify the issues by Christmas, adjourn for the holidays and get down to firm decisions in early spring.

Mr. Diefenbaker seems to regard this schedule as a threat to terrify the Opposition. It should be regarded, as a promise to put Parliament's business on a sensible schedule.

Unemployment and Unfilled Jobs

THE TORONTO GLOBE AND Mail has noted one of the paradoxes of our times when literally thousands of jobs are going begging in Canada and hundreds of thousands of people are unemployed.

The other day, the newspaper reports, Toronto dailies carried an unprecedented eight pages of "Teachers Wanted" advertisements. At the same time suitable candidates were sought and not found for policemen and a big new hospital addition planned to open only one of its sections because it could not attract enough nurses to staff the others.

Obviously in Toronto there were not sufficient people trained for the particular jobs that were available. The same condition exists in other parts of the nation. Men and women are looking for work. Work opportunities exist, but for those with special skills. The job applicant without the required skill remains unemployed.

There are, of course, other factors in this unbalanced equation. One of them is the inability, or unwillingness, of the individual to move to another centre where there are jobs in his trade.

Under conditions as they now exist the proposal of Senator Ross MacDonald, Opposition Leader in the Upper House, makes exceptionally good sense.

"I would propose to the Government—and I trust the Honorable Leader of the Government will pass this suggestion along," said Senator MacDonald, "that the Senate seriously consider referring the whole question of manpower to one of its committees or a special committee, where impartial and unbiased attention could be given by the members of this House to the general problem of unemployment and its effects upon our national life and the individuals concerned."

This is an admirable suggestion, not only because members of the Senate are from various walks of life and trained in the sifting of evidence in public matters, but because the Upper Chamber has time to undertake such a study.

Such an inquiry could collect all the facts. Those facts are essential to an effective study of unemployment particularly at this time when no one seems to know for sure how many are out of work and when there is such disagreement on totals used in argument by one faction or another.

Foggy on the Launching Pad

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT's apparent confusion in regard to defence policies has in no way been clarified by recent exchanges in Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker has long been on record with the assertion that Canada will control the use in this country of nuclear warheads provided—and owned—by the United States. This statement, however, appears to be in conflict with existing United States law and repeated enquiries put to External Affairs Minister Green have failed to elicit any clear reply as to how the two attitudes will be reconciled.

Of equal concern is Mr. Green's indication that there has been no move toward amending the U.S. law, if only in the case of Canada. The prospect therefore is that we are preparing to build Bomarc sites at tremendous cost for an atomic weapon on which there is no clear understanding between the two countries. The United States retains full ownership of all nuclear arms on foreign soil, but Mr. Diefenbaker assures us that Canada will have control even though lacking ownership.

This seems to be a shaky diplomatic base for a defence project which will cost millions, which still has many engineering "bugs" to be removed (the Bomarc B has had seven successive failures in test launchings), and which in the absence of fighter squadrons will be our only retaliation against bomber attack. Against missile attack, of course, it will be entirely ineffective.

Small wonder that the Canadian public is becoming seriously concerned, that a full enquiry into defence is urgently needed, and that Mr. Diefenbaker and his ministers are becoming increasingly contradictory and confused.

Anti-Discrimination Bill

NEXT SESSION, SAYS MR. Bonner, a bill will be presented to the Legislature outlawing discrimination on grounds of color against people seeking accommodation in hotels, motels, beer parlors or restaurants in this province.

The Attorney-General gave that assurance after Mr. Arthur Turner had introduced a private member's bill to the same effect and withdrawn it on the Government's promise in the closing days of the last session. Mr. Strachan, leader of the opposition, gave the proposal his unqualified support.

It is unfortunate that conditions make such a bill necessary, fortunate that the legislators are prepared to approve one because certain discriminations have been practised.

At this time, when people who respect democracy are shocked by barriers raised on racial grounds in certain parts of the world, it is gratifying to learn that the law here will guarantee those of a different color their rights as human beings.

Mr. Bennett is correct in remarking that such a bill requires careful planning and drafting. When it is introduced, it should be good enough to claim support from all members of the House and from the public.

The Whirling Dervishes

MR. Walter Harris, who was as successful in managing Canada's finances as he was unsuccessful in explaining how he did it, proposes a royal commission to study the methods of the Bank of Canada, which is also brilliant in action but necessarily somewhat dull in explanation. Among various other things, the failure of Mr. Harris to make the public understand what he was doing and why it cost him his seat in Parliament. The failure of the central bank (until recently at any rate) to explain what it is doing has cost it some of the most idiot criticism in the long, tortured annals of public debate.

No sooner, for example, had Mr. Harris suggested a royal commission on central banking than the Toronto Star solemnly announced that the Bank of Canada "has not always been equal to the challenge before it—whether it was the deflation of the mid-thirties, the postwar inflation, or the durable plague of unemployment."

WITH equal justice, the Star could have added that the Bank of Canada had likewise failed to prevent the worldwide depression, the Second World War, the rise of Communism, the nuclear bomb and the recent March blizzards. The bank can do many things in various roles. It cannot play God.

Yet the old money myth refuses to die. Because they are unable or unwilling to solve their problems in the hard, slow, complex and possible way, men throughout history have often believed they could solve them in the quick, easy way, by merely manipulating the medium of exchange.

From the clipping of Roman coins to the inflation of the Canadian currency in 1958 the easy way has always appealed to any hard-up government and to innumerable politicians on the make.

THUS in the last few days we have heard from Mr. A. J. Hooke, Social Credit minister of municipal affairs in Alberta, that the "life blood of the nation" will be sucked dry pretty soon if the Bank of Canada continues to behave like a vampire. There must be something fatally wrong with the whole money system, says Mr. Hooke, when it is easier to borrow money for eight starving pigs than for eight starving children.

This is the good old reliable stuff that myths and electoral victories are made of. But it has little to do with central banking.

Mr. Harris does not share the nightmares of Mr. Hooke and will hardly suppose that the tragedy of the children and the pigs has been caused by, or can be cured by, the Bank of Canada single-handed.

What Mr. Harris is trying to get at is not Utopia (a field considerably wider than central banking), but only the proper relationship between the Bank of Canada and the federal government.

This is a subject large enough to occupy us for some time without any attempt to cure the ancient follies of mankind by writing a different set of figures in the ledger.

THE assumption behind Woodrow Wilson's Federal Reserve system, on which the Bank of Canada is roughly though not exactly modeled was that the daily management of money could not be safely left to elected laymen but must be placed in the hands of impartial experts who don't need electoral votes. And Wilson, it should be remembered, was the most dedicated Democrat of his age.

Hence the law of 1934 says the Bank of Canada shall do what it can to protect the value of money and prevent violent fluctuations in the economy "as far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action."

No one except the monetary mystics, certainly not the central bankers, the business men, the socialists or the Communists, ever supposed that the scope of monetary action could heal all the maladies of the economic system. No one really supposed either, until Mr. Fleming's arrival, that Wilson's divorce between central banking and politics could be complete.

HAVING spent and borrowed his way into an unprecedented financial crisis, Mr. Fleming seized on the lawyer's fine print to argue that his government had nothing whatever to do with the control of money, interest rates, inflation or deflation. All this, said Mr. Fleming, was solely the business of the Bank of Canada when, in fact, the government's flaccid, and that alone, compelled the bank to rescue Mr. Fleming by printing more money.

As Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott remarked when he was finance minister, a central banking system, in its monetary policy, cannot be insulated from the fiscal policy, wise or foolish of the government no matter what the fine print may say.

In the end government, as elected by the people and supported in parliament, will decide all national policy. Money is always at the mercy of politics.

A royal commission, however, may be useful in redefining the day-to-day relationship between the government and the central bank, now a rather clouded field, thanks to Mr. Fleming's smokescreen.

EVEN more important, it may help to define the limitations of money as a cheap universal panacea and Indian snake-oil cure for everything.

This definition would be timely because the voice of monetary miracle, the age-old siren song of easy money, is heard again in the land, from parliament to the legislature of Alberta and in obscure convecticles of whirling dervishes from coast to coast.

The Bank of Canada is widely expected not merely to relieve the imaginary pigs and children but to restore the world from which the economic problems of Canada cannot be isolated for a single hour, day or night.

Negotiate or Wait?

AFTER his talks with the President, Dr. Adenauer said in a speech before the National Press Club that one sentence in the official joint statement

"contains the basis for the West's attitude toward the Khrushchev's demands with regard to Berlin and it is therefore of decisive importance in the present situation." Dr. Adenauer asked us to read this sentence "most carefully." What does the sentence, which is of such decisive importance, say?

It says that the President and the Chancellor "agreed that the preservation of the freedom of the people of West Berlin, and their right of self-determination, must underlie any future agreement affecting the city." Any future agreement.

If that sentence is as important as Dr. Adenauer says it is, the President and he are agreed that there may be a new settlement in Berlin, which protects its freedom and its right of self-determination. It means, moreover, that they can imagine an agreement on Berlin made before the reunification of Germany.

Open to Change

It means that they are not committed to insisting that the freedom and the right of self-determination of West Berlin can be protected only by the maintenance of the status quo.

If the spirit and the letter of the Eisenhower-Adenauer statement express the authentic considered view of the Chancellor, then he has been misrepresented in the United States by his most ardent supporters.

They have been telling us that there should be no negotiations about West Berlin, that any future agreement would be appeasement and a surrender to the Soviet Union. They have been insisting that the fate of the free world depends upon revoking the promise made at Camp David to negotiate about Berlin.

They have, it appears now from the official record, been more royalist than the king, more Adenauer than Adenauer himself.

Accepted Formula

What happened, quite evidently, is that the Chancellor failed to persuade the President to revoke his pledge to negotiate and having failed, he accepted the President's formula. This formula contains the gist of the matter which is that, provided it protects the freedom of West Berlin, we are prepared to explore and consider and, if possible, to negotiate the new settlement.

This is all that the British government and all that the American critics of Adenauer's rigidity, have ever wanted to do.

As Our Readers See It

'Talk' With King

Startling indeed was the headline in your March 18 issue, "British-Spiritualist says she 'talked' to Mackenzie King after death." It is but natural to desire to talk with the departed if one believes that they are still alive in some spirit world. But are they still alive?

There is little doubt that spirit mediums often receive messages from the spirits. But who are these spirits? Are they from a good or evil source? How can they possibly be the spirits of our beloved dead when, according to Christ's words, the dead are asleep? (John 11). In Ecclesiastes Chapter nine and verse five we read: "The dead know not anything. They are asleep until the resurrection when 'all that are in the graves shall hear His (the Life-giver's) voice, and shall come forth.'"

Help Our Athletes

I note that recently the B.C. Government was approached to aid the hosting of the 1968 Winter Olympics at Garibaldi Park. The cost of such a project is mooted to be fifteen to twenty million dollars.

I am wondering if others feel as I do, that such an investment would be tragic—that the taxpayers' money, if there be any for such a project, would be better spent in promoting amateur sport.

Already the California Legislature is wondering what to do with the Squaw Valley facilities, a great part of which will never be used again. This indicates the fallacy of the argument that by hosting the Winter Games we would be developing Garibaldi Park. The park would be developed for a fraction of the cost to host the Games where it would be necessary to provide facilities that would never be used again.

I cringe at the thought of Canada playing host to the Olympics when she has few, if any full-time coaches in any of the Olympic sports. Our facilities for producing and helping athletes in the Olympic sports are not only inadequate, in most cases, they are nonexistent.

The American domination in the Summer Olympics in men's track and field comes largely from the fact that in every university of any consequence in their country a full-time coach is hired. He coaches not as an avocation, as in Canada; but as a vocation. The same holds true for many of U.S. high schools. In England there is a state-provided national coach and numerous assistants working under him at the county level. They have a planned scheme of developing each athlete through various stages of proficiency. Australia has a somewhat similar set up. At the Olympics the advantages of such a system are easily seen.

In Canada, there is no help, but our youngsters are suddenly expected to become heroes every four years. The opportunities to improve through continued competition with other countries is unheard of outside of the four year periods between Olympics and Commonwealth Games. The U.S. for example sends three full track and field teams to Europe each year to compete during the summer months.

If our government is going to spend money on Olympic Games, let us use it to develop some gold medalists first.

The President has refused to tie his hands and he has preserved intact his right to explore the problem of the future of Berlin. Will this mean that in admitting that there is a problem of Berlin and that he is prepared to discuss it with Khrushchev, he is weakening the Western position?

It will look that way to some. But on the whole, he will not, I believe, weaken the Western position and rather he will reinforce it for the future.

To be sure there will be some Germans in West Berlin and there will be people elsewhere who, having been taught to believe that any discussion of Berlin is appeasement, will be worried and frightened when Berlin is discussed. That will be too bad and they should be reassured.

Real Question

But the real question at the bottom of the argument is whether the Western position in Berlin will grow stronger if we postpone a negotiation or whether it will deteriorate.

Because I am convinced that time is not on our side in West Berlin, I believe we should attempt now to negotiate a new settlement which protects the freedom of West Berlin.

Mr. K. may refuse to agree to such a settlement. It would not surprise me at all. But our diplomatic position in Europe and in the rest of the world will be stronger if we have attempted to make it and if we have identified ourselves with a genuine attempt to reach an accommodation in Berlin.

There are two main reasons why I think the Western position in Berlin will not grow stronger.

Important Role

The first is that Eastern Germany is playing an increasingly important role in the upsurge of the Communist economy. It is significant, as Flora Lewis reported in the New York Times on Sunday, that the migration from West Germany to East Germany is now half as large as the migration the other way. That reflects the rising economic levels in Eastern Germany.

The stronger the East Germany economy becomes, the more difficult and the more distant will be its integration with Western Germany.

The second reason for wishing to see a serious negotiation about Berlin in the near future is that it would be very desirable that a political settlement should bear the imprint of Adenauer and de Gaulle. What does the West gain, what do Germany and France gain, by putting off serious negotiations until after Adenauer and de Gaulle have departed?

Does anyone know what Germany will be like after Adenauer? Does anyone know what France will be like after de Gaulle? It does not seem to me wise and prudent to put off into the indefinite future the crucial problem of Germany.

(C) 1960, New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Let us forego the tourist dollars that certain Vancouver "Sportsmen" predict by the simple task of spending fifteen million dollars developing Garibaldi Park.

If and when this country hosts an Olympics I for one should like to be an ungracious host by beating as many of our guests as possible. My idea is to let the competitors go home with Eskimo art and totem poles, but don't let them go home with any medals.

Why host a Winter Olympics and let the competitors against whom we so recently competed at Squaw Valley in on our secret that ours is a country of snow and ice. On our showing, they undoubtedly believe Canada is in the tropics.

Fifteen to twenty million dollars is a lot of money. Couldn't we put it to better use by developing an Olympic team that can rise above mediocrity?

It is said that winning isn't everything—it is the only thing. Perhaps this is going too far, but surely it would be nice to hear "O Canada" played at victory ceremonies on a few more occasions than we are likely to hear at Rome during this summer's Olympics.

MRA Helps

Re: Ideology and Co-Existence. "I have known the people in this group since 1932. They helped me when I badly needed help. My hope sprang to life then that there was an answer to the world's need. Through the years this hope has grown through ups and downs into a conviction that this is the overarching thinking for our day."

"It is no substitute for religion; our church life becomes more meaningful. But it does lead us out into an instant touch with men of good will throughout the world on the deepest level, namely, where do we stand with our Creator? From there it leads us to work together to bring the whole world into a family of nations under God's leadership."

Easy Licence

Re your editorial "TV Racket"—the blame in part rests with government. Contrary to belief, a person does not need a ticket to operate. Tradesman or not, a person can buy a licence from the local authorities and hang out a shingle irrespective of his ability. The public has no guidance. Advertising does not separate the incompetents.

All types of television and radios etc. are picked up and turned out to other competent firms with technical ability to handle complex problems. This passes on increased costs to the public. The answer is not easy to arrive at. The only safeguard the public can have is the issuance of a government ticket, revoked on proof of misconduct.

The Province of B.C. has recently formulated an exam for various phases of the electronics industry. This is open for all who can fulfil the initial requirements. A technician on passing is issued a competency certificate signed by the minister of labor, the Hon. L. Wicks. This is a step in the right direction, but not being compulsory, falls short of the desired effect and a non-technician can still operate.

A TECHNICIAN

Comment Is Free

BECAUSE this paper so often reprints articles from the Manchester Guardian—or the Guardian as it has now become—I've been reading J. L. Hammond's biography of C. P. Scott, the great editor who made the Manchester Guardian one of the world's most respected papers.

It was of the Manchester Guardian that Mr. Walter Lippman once wrote: "Whenever I have been in the mood to despair about the press and to wonder whether democratic institutions were workable with the kind of press we have, I have come back to the Guardian as a living illustration of what character and intelligence can actually do in a commercialized world."

Unfortunately, the biography does not quote extensively from C. P. Scott's famous essay on newspaper ideals. However, the essay can be found in "The Bedside Guardian, Number 4" which, like the biography, is in the Victoria Public Library.

Several years ago, I quoted from this essay. I want to do it again because I think that what Mr. Scott wrote in 1921 is still worth serious consideration today.

"A newspaper has two sides to it," wrote Mr. Scott. "It is a business like any other, and has to pay in the material sense in order to live. But it is much more than a business; it is an institution; it reflects and it influences the life of a whole community; it may affect even wider destinies. It is, in its way, an instrument of government. It plays on the minds and consciences of men. It may educate, stimulate, assist, or it may do the opposite. It has, therefore, a moral as well as a material existence, and its character and influence are in the main determined by the balance of these two forces. It may make profit or power its first object, or it may conceive itself as fulfilling a higher and more exacting function."

In the next paragraph of the essay, Mr. Scott wrote of character: "Character is a subtle affair and has many shades and sides to it. It is not a thing to be much talked about, but rather to be felt. It is the slow deposit of past actions and ideals. It is for each man his most precious possession, and so it is for that latest growth of time the newspaper. Fundamentally it implies honesty, cleanness, courage, fairness, a sense of duty to the reader and the community."

Mr. Scott then wrote of the newspaper's primary office of gathering news. "At the peril of its soul it must see that the supply is not tainted. Neither in what it gives, nor in what it does not give, nor in the mode of presentation must the unclouded face of truth suffer wrong. Comment is free, but facts are sacred. The voice of opponents no less than that of friends has a right to be heard. Comment also is justly subject to self-imposed restraint. It is well to be frank; it is even better to be fair. This is an ideal. Achievement in such matters is hardly given to man. We can but try, ask pardon for shortcomings and there leave the matter."

There is much more to the essay and to the leading article for July 2, 1955, which is also reprinted in the Bedside Guardian, Number 4. Neither is likely to appeal to those members of the public who only buy their paper for sensational rot or, possibly, a chance of winning a free trip to Hawaii.

But how does one train them to want something better? Now there's a question that I don't know the answer to!

'SOMETHING DIFFERENT' NEEDED FOR TOURISTS

JOHN FISHER
... Canada loser

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—John Fisher, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, said here Wednesday that Canada, as a tourist nation, is a loser.

He told the Greater Vancouver Tourist Association in New Westminster that Canadians spent $192,000,000 more outside Canada last year than tourists from outside Canada spent here.

Mr. Fisher said restrictive liquor laws, lack of national identity, a short tourist season and a high standard of living were among the reasons.

"On the one hand we strive to be similar to the U.S.," he said, "so how can we expect American tourists to come to our country?"

"They want something different, something they can tell the folks at home about."

Handicapped, Aged Need Better Deal

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital, Wednesday called for a better deal for senior citizens in need of hospital care and attention.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the directors of Gorge Road Hospital, Dr. Boettcher said more should be done towards rehabilitating physically handicapped elderly people in both general hospitals and nursing homes.

The meeting was later told that Gorge Road is going ahead with a $500,000 new wing to house elderly patients.

First step will be a $50,000 expansion of rehabilitation services, chairman Mrs. C. C. Warren said in her annual report.

Dr. Boettcher said hospitals frequently are unable to provide a complete rehabilitation service to older people because of the lack of space and money.

"We find that all too often it is necessary to discharge to nursing homes patients who might otherwise be rehabilitated."

Senior citizens were entitled to a better deal than spending the rest of their days in bed, completely dependent upon nursing care. A proper rehabilitation program would restore them to an active life in society.

Dr. Boettcher was hopeful that government assistance would soon permit the expansion of such services.

"We anticipate BCHS coverage will be extended to those handicapped patients who require such long-term rehabilitative care, thus removing the financial obstacles that we now face all too frequently," he said.

FOR CHRONIC CASES
George Masters, administrator of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, also stressed there was an urgent need for more medical and hospital facilities for convalescent and chronic patients.

Mr. Masters said he thought that it is more economical to treat chronic cases under one roof in a separate hospital or nursing home.

Requirements and care and treatment of acute and chronic cases differed.

Dr. D. M. Whitelaw, assistant professor of medicine at the University of British Columbia, said the rehabilitation of elderly people is expensive. Some required long-term care to restore them back to health.

But, he added, in the long run it paid off to rehabilitate senior citizens.

VLC CRITICS OF HOSPITAL WING SCORED

Health Minister Eric Martin in a letter to Victoria Labor Council Wednesday charged the VLC with "irresponsible" criticism of government delays in construction start of the proposed new $2,500,000 Royal Jubilee Hospital wing.

Indicating that approval of hospital plans might take several months, he was critical of the labor body attacking the provincial government without a knowledge of factors involved.

His letter was received and filed.

VENICE LIKELY SPOT FOR ROYAL HONEYMOON

VENICE (AP) — Venice is shaping up as the major port of call on Princess Margaret's honeymoon cruise. Buckingham Palace announced Wednesday that the Queen is lending the royal yacht Britannia to her sister and Antony Armstrong-Jones for their trip after their Westminster Abbey wedding May 6.

The honeymoon itinerary has not been announced, but British newspapers say Italy's romantic city of canals and gondolas is a likely destination.

The manager of Venice's Grillo Palace Hotel said a member of Queen Mother Elizabeth's household had tentatively reserved the hotel's royal suite for some time in May. He added that the exact date was not fixed, and he was not informed that the princess and her husband might use the suite.

Princess Margaret stayed in the hotel's four-room royal suite when she visited Venice in 1949.

TONY, MARGARET

Tony will not be asked to share in the public duties performed by the Royal Family because it would be unfair at his age, 30, to have to learn to withstand this gruelling routine. Besides he is a bit sensitive about his slight limp (from polio) and his diminutive size (5 feet 5 inches).

The Nervous Type

He was notably nervous on both his public outings with the Princess thus far—a gala ballet performance at Covent Garden and a charity preview of a new musical.

At this point it appears that Tony will be free to devote himself to his greatest interest outside photography, the theatre—and fatherhood. He was the first to make photographic scenery for the stage here and he finds backstage production absorbing.

His future may lie as a patron of the theatre and its allied arts.

The Royal Family intends to make Tony's entry into "blue-blood circles" as painless as possible. At the Queen's request his engagement to Margaret was kept secret for a month. This was in direct contrast to the technique followed when the Queen, as Princess Elizabeth, began to show a decided preference for Prince Philip.

They Knew Philip

The British public read many articles about Philip before the engagement was announced and knew all about him. But Philip was born a prince, and absorbed all the unique and difficult background of royalty as a child and besides had great natural presence with his tall athletic figure.

The abrupt announcement of the engagement of Margaret and Tony had exactly the effect the Royal Family had calculated. Even if criticism of her choice had been contemplated—which is doubtful—it would have been swept away in the tidal wave of surprise.

So anxious was the Queen that there should not be prior knowledge of the engagement when it was feared the news might leak out it was announced immediately, despite the fact family mourning for Lady Mountbatten was still underway and the Queen had recently had her third baby.

No Headlines Stolen

One laborite newspaper which accused the Princess of "stealing the headlines" from the baby was wrong. The decision to make the announcement was not taken by Margaret, according to the royal source, but by Buckingham Palace.

The switchboard of Clarence House, where Margaret and the Queen Mother live, was even secretly moved into Buckingham Palace so that the deluge of calls which it was certain would follow the announcement could be better handled.

The royal source said the fact Tony's parents, lawyer Ronald Armstrong-Jones and the Countess of Rosse, are divorced will not affect their attendance at the wedding, which is a personal affair. However, it might raise problems at future official functions where the Queen, as head of the Church of England, does not normally receive divorced persons.

Meanwhile, there is no question the Princess and the photographer are in love. And in a castle as in a cottage love will find a way.

MEN UNCHANGED

'Odette' Foresees Third War

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Geoffrey Hallowes of London, the famous Odette of British intelligence in France during the Second World War, says she believes there will be another war.

"A different kind, but until there is an evolution—a change in spirit—it will come," she said here in an interview.

"I saw men so bad they were no longer human, they were beasts; I saw others so good, they transcended humanity. They didn't become this way on the day war broke out nor could they change when peace was declared."

As Odette, Mrs. Hallowes was tortured by the Gestapo in France where she was sent by British intelligence to establish liaison with Parisian patriots. She became the only woman to be awarded the George Cross.

She is in Toronto to visit one of her three daughters, Mrs. Gerald Samson.

Cuban Captain Jailed

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Former rebel Capt. Jorge Sotus Romero was given a 20-year sentence by a military tribunal Wednesday for counter-revolutionary activity. Among the charges against him was that he publicly said Communism was infiltrating the Cuban armed forces.

COYNE DEBATE SPARKS STORMY COMMONS SCENE

PM Labelled 'Second Duplessis'

By VICTOR MACKIE
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Opposition demands that the government come to the defence of James Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, provoked a stormy scene in the Commons Wednesday with Mr. Speaker Roland Michener forced to intervene to restore order and curb angry interjections across the floor.

It was one of the sharpest exchanges to take place in the Commons this session with Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance, refusing to rise in his place and defend Mr. Coyne, on the grounds that it was not his responsibility.

At one point in the heated controversy that suddenly flared up Prime Minister John Diefenbaker was labelled "another Duplessis" when he described a question asked by Opposition Leader Hon. L. B. Pearson as an "improper one." Hon. Paul Martin (L.-Essex) was branded a "demagogue" and the finance minister was accused of "evading" his responsibilities.

Leon Crestohl (L. Montreal, Cartier) touched off a lengthy wrangle in the Commons by asking Mr. Fleming whether he planned to defend Mr. Coyne, "a dedicated and faithful servant," from the attacks made in the House Tuesday by Louis Joseph Pigeon (PC, Joliette, L'Assomption, Montcalm).

Mr. Pigeon had described the governor's annual report to Parliament as a "crude political pamphlet" and said Mr. Coyne has lost the confidence of Canadians and should resign.

Speaker Roland Michener suggested Mr. Crestohl's question should be dealt with in debate, prompting the Liberal to remark that cabinet ministers usually defend government employees who are unable to do so on the floor of the Commons.

Mr. Martin then took up the cudgels, pressing for a reply and describing Mr. Pigeon's remarks as an "unwarranted attack."

Mr. Fleming said that if Mr. Coyne came under his ministerial responsibilities Mr. Crestohl might have a basis for his question. But Mr. Coyne was in no sense an official of his department, nor was he in any sense a civil servant. Parliament itself had fixed his duties by law.

Mr. Martin asked whether Mr. Fleming shares the view that Mr. Coyne is playing politics and has lost the confidence of the people.

Mr. Fleming repeated that the question was an improper one.

Mr. Pearson asked Mr. Diefenbaker whether he plans to let the charges against Mr. Coyne stand and Mr. Diefenbaker took the same stand as Mr. Fleming that the question was improper.

Mr. Diefenbaker began to explain that he had heard Mr. Michener give a ruling to that effect when Guy Rouleau (L. Montreal-Dollard), shouted: "Another Duplessis!"

Postmaster-General William Hamilton quoted the Commons rules that questions must not refer to matters under debate and Mr. Michener again ruled that the matter should be dealt with in debate and not during the daily question period.

Coyne Backs 'Sound Money'

SASKATOON (CP) — James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, has warned again that sound national growth can be based only on sound money and not by resorting to the printing press for additional funds to achieve economic goals.

Mr. Coyne spoke to the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Retail Merchants' Association Tuesday night. He said a reduction in total spending and reorientation of part of Canada's total spending towards the purchase of efficiently produced goods and services of domestic origin in place of imports are required to call a halt to total spending and total demand which have been misdirected for several years.

He was introduced by Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines who said he fully agreed with Mr. Coyne's stand that Canadians are living dangerously beyond their means.

Mr. Coyne said the use of money and credit in the aggregate must be based on physical reality and for "every man who spends and consumes more than he earns or produces, there must be another who spends and consumes less than he earns or produces, if we are not all to be caught up in an inflationary race."

The first requirement for sound money, Mr. Coyne said, is that central banks should see that there is a sufficient supply of money to facilitate the extension of credit in the degree justified by real economic considerations. Secondly, the total supply of money should not be increased beyond that point.

The first regular coal-mining operation in North America was at Port Morien, near Glace Bay, N.S., in 1720.

... driving force
The United States replaced Britain as the leading customer for Australia's meat exports in 1959.

He Wouldn't Let a Negro Give His Children a Bath

CAPETOWN (AP)—Hendrik Verwoerd smiles easily. But he may be the most uncompromising of the three prime ministers of South Africa whose policies of white supremacy have stirred controversy and violence since 1948.

A breezy six-footer with blue eyes and grey hair, Verwoerd (pronounced fair-voert) built a reputation as the driving force behind rigid apartheid, or racial segregation, during the regimes of his late predecessors, Daniel Malan and Johannes Strijdom. He also became known as the po-

QUOTES BIBLE

Verwoerd expounds fervently his beliefs on race from the background of a trained psychologist. Like many of South Africa's nationalists, he is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church and cites Old Testament references for justification of his policies.

South Africa's 10,000,000 Negroes and 3,000,000 whites, he says, must live apart just as do the lion and the elephant. He has boasted that none of his seven children was bathed or cared for by a Negro nurse. Recently he said South Africa's problem was one of "ensuring the survival of the white race here, and at the same time doing justice to the non-whites in their sphere."

Disorders this week, in which non-whites protested against compulsory identification passes, were the result of an attempt at mass revolt, he said.

The prime minister views the nationalist independence movement in African countries as the work of ambitious political agitators, not as the demand of the "black masses."

HE GOT JAIL INSTEAD OF WEDDING

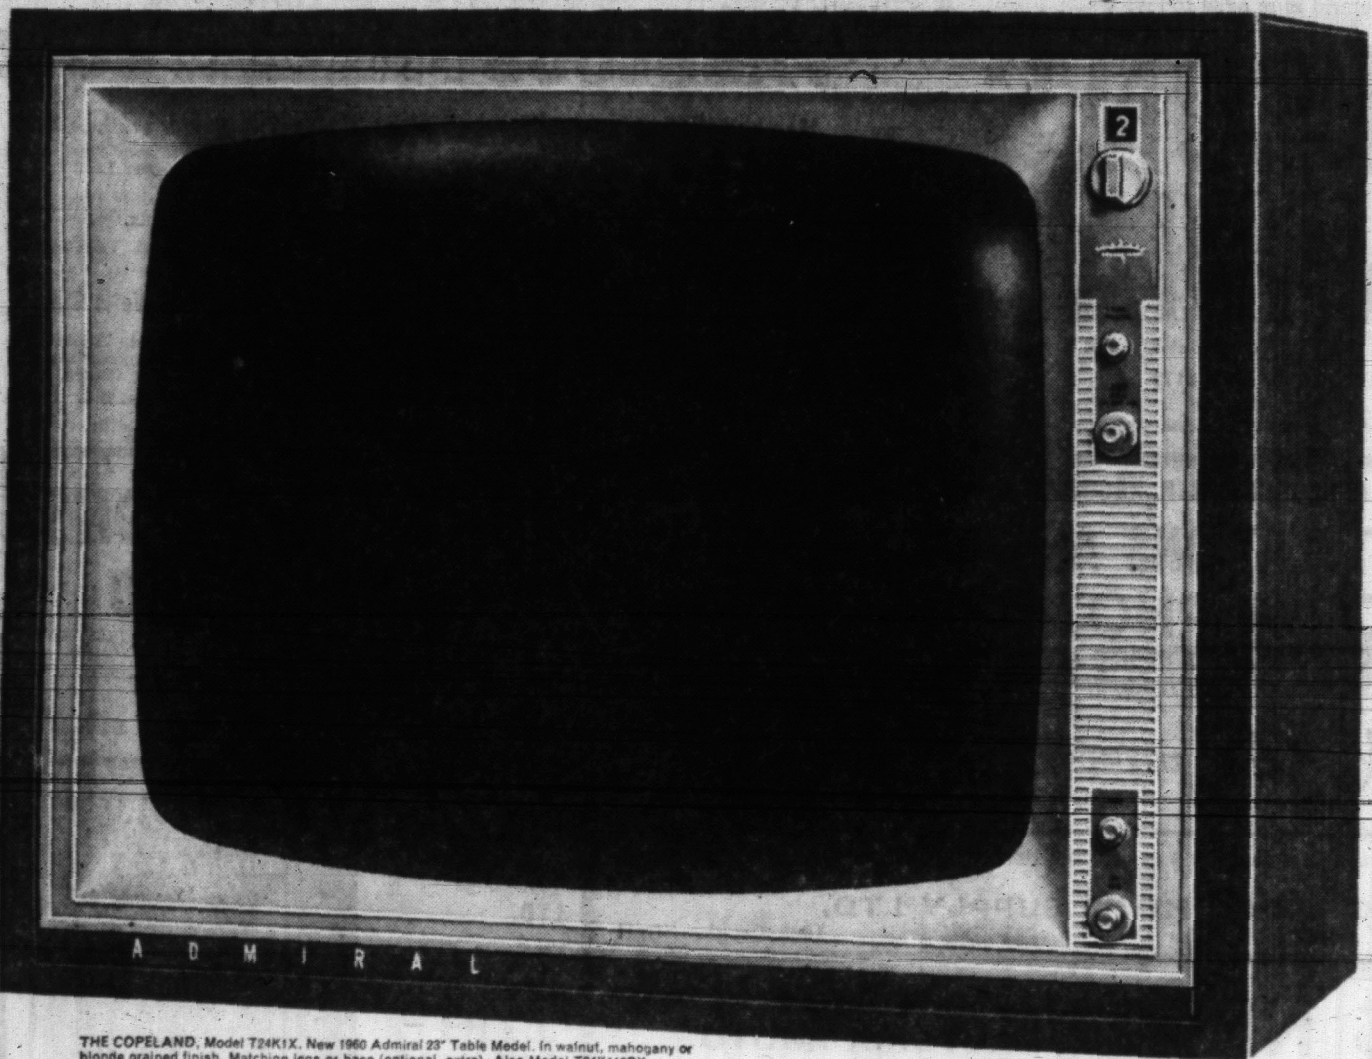

VANCOUVER (CP)—A theft intended to aid a young couple to marry resulted in a 14-month jail sentence for the would-be groom.

Glenn Terry Dunphy, 20, was convicted Wednesday of stealing $1,000 worth of articles and a $6,000 car from a Vancouver home.

A companion, Edward Thomas Wishart, 18, was remanded to March 30 after pleading guilty to joint charges.

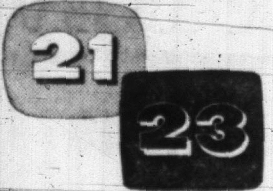

Wishart told the court the theft was committed with the idea of selling the articles to help Dunphy and a girl friend marry. The girl is pregnant.

TCA Profits Decline; Competition Blamed

OTTAWA (CP) — Competition from a new transcontinental service was cited today by Trans-Canada Air Lines as one reason for a 72 per cent decline in net revenues last year.

The TCA annual report, tabled in the Commons by Transport Minister Hees, showed a net income of $152,554 last year compared with $547,429. It was the ninth successive year the publicly-owned airline had reported a profit.

With both revenues and operating expenses increasing by 12 per cent, the report said TCA's load factor, the percentage of usable passenger seats occupied, declined "sharply" to 66.5 per cent from 69.3 per cent.

It said the advent last May of Canadian Pacific Airlines as a second transcontinental carrier, together with competition from turbine equipment on the North Atlantic service, were "powerful downward influences" contributing to this.

The report by Gordon McGregor, TCA president, also described 1960 as "the most challenging and demanding" year in TCA history as the airline continues its transition to an all-turbine-powered fleet. The acquisition of DC-8 jet aircraft and the large turbo-prop Vanguard would have "a heavy impact" on this year's financial results.

CHESSMAN BOOSTS IQ

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Condemned Caryl Chessman has increased his superior IQ by three points after 12 Death Row years of fighting off gas chamber execution.

Chessman's score of 130 in an intelligence test given him this month by San Quentin prison psychologists ranks him among the top three per cent of the American population in mental ability.

TV Commercial 'Too Sharp'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today charged that a television commercial for Schick Safety Razors illegally frightens the American public. The advertisement shows a competing razor slashing a boxing glove worn by heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson.

The Federal Trade Commission said the TV demonstration represents an illegal method of competition, because it "unduly frightens and alarms prospective purchasers of competitive razors." Named in the complaint were Eversharp Inc., the manufacturer of Schick razors, and its advertising agency, Compton Advertising Inc.

In the challenged commercial, announcer Bud Palmer runs an "old-style round-head razor" across Johansson's face, slashing its surface. Palmer then says: "Look! If that can happen to this glove, think what could happen to your face."

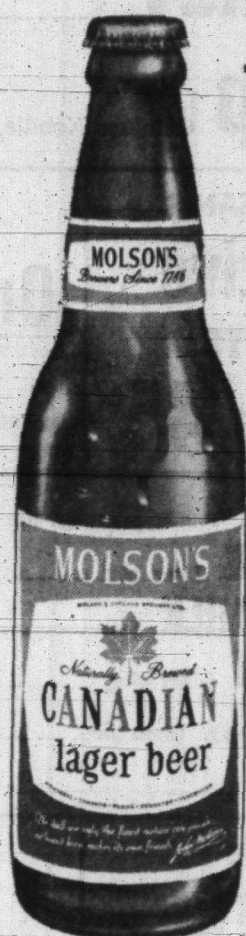

Victoria Daily Times THURS., MARCH 24, 1960

Palmer then runs a Schick razor across the glove without cutting it. The FTC said the demonstration is invalid because the slashing of a boxing glove does not duplicate the shaving of a face.

DEMORE TO TAKE OVER FOR INJURED CHIUPKA

Ray Demore, a right wing, has been acquired from Rossland Warriors of the Western International Hockey League to replace injured Don Chiupka, Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League announced Wednesday.

Demore, 25, is expected to get into the lineup when the Totems open their best-of-seven semi-final playoffs against Victoria Cougars in Seattle Friday night.

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

Whether it's baseball bats, shotguns, hockey sticks or polo mallets, the odds are against you if your weapon doesn't have the "feel" that comes with balance.

Men who manufacture hockey sticks might weep if they watched the woodworking operations peculiar to dressing rooms of hockey clubs and designed to transform their products into balanced instruments.

Hockey players are apt to be as finicky about their sticks as a debutante is about her hair-do. Just any old thing won't do and it's the finishing touches that count.

Every player has his own ideas and weird and wonderful things happen to shiny sticks before they are packed off to the ice wars. A hockey forward may not be any great shakes at do-it-yourself carpentry around home, but it's a safe bet that he's an expert with plane, saw, rasp, knife, sandpaper and tape around the dressing room.

One of the most particular about the feel of a stick is Victoria sniping ace Gordie Fashway, the most prolific scorer in Western Hockey League history.

Makes Over Made-to-Order Sticks

Since he prefers the blade of his stick in a three-inch width—the maximum allowed by regulations—instead of standard dimensions, Fash has his weapons made to order. When new ones arrive, he promptly goes to work, planing each blade down to surprising thinness and sawing a chunk off the end. Then comes a touch of sandpaper and a careful wrapping with electrician's tape.

It has been suspected that Gordie likes the big blade because he is an expert at batting down passes by rival defencemen. The extra width enables him to make more interceptions and thus collect two or three additional goals per season. And he gets an occasional tally by means of a baseball-type swing.

But Fashway says it isn't so. "The wide blade has some advantages," he says, "especially in getting passes under control. But for me it balances better. I use it because I like the way it feels. I've just got used to a big stick."

Whether or not the big stick has helped may be a question, but the fact remains that Gordie owns one of the greatest goal-scoring records in hockey and he is an odds-on bet to collect more than 500 tallies in the pro ranks before he calls it a career.

Good Bet to Reach 500-Goal Mark

Now 33, Fashway has hit the nets 378 times in regular league games since moving to New Westminster nine seasons back. And he has added 22 goals in playoffs to make it an even 400 in the Western Hockey League record book.

Fash also fired a total of 72 in the first three years of his pro career, which included three goals in 14 games with Chicago and a 54-goal campaign with Kansas City in the USHL. They all add up to 472 goals and Gordie, hoping to play "another two or three seasons," looks like a cinch to top 500.

This might have been his third 50-goal season if he had been able to hit the net in his usual fashion during the early part of the winter. Despite a wealth of shots, Gordie managed only 10 goals in the first half of the season, yet finished with a rush for a season count of 34.

That closing surge could be an indication that he'll be on target when the Cougars open their semifinal playoff at Seattle Friday and continue their duel with the Totems at Memorial Arena Saturday night.

However, regardless of the way they trim their sticks, all the Cats will be giving it a big effort against Seattle. They have an extra reason for wanting to march into the final and a probable date with Art Chapman's Vancouver Canucks.

They have been more eager than ever for a playoff shot at the Canucks since Chapman called the Cougars a dull, defensive-minded club and probable losers in the semifinal during a television program Tuesday night.

They'd like nothing better than to show Mr. Chapman a thing or two about scoring goals, but first they have to get by the Totems. And if they have these shooting sticks whittled right, they might do just that.

One Goal More --- That's Enough

Victoria Evcoes have a very simple formula for winning soccer games — score more goals than the other team.

That is what they propose to do Saturday when, as underdogs, they go up against Vancouver Firefighters in the Province Cup semifinals.

Manager Jack Metcalf concedes that his team may not be favored by the odds makers, but insists that "if we play as well as we did in Vancouver, we'll win."

He was referring to his

LEAFS UPSET IN OPENER

Punch Conceded One So Wings Took First

TORONTO (CP) — "We won the one we said we were going to win," yelled coach Sid Abel to his rejoicing Detroit Red Wings Wednesday night, after they had jumped into a 1-0 lead in their Stanley Cup semifinal with Toronto Maple Leafs.

"Just three more," bellowed half a dozen players, as the tension abated from the dying minutes of the game, which Wings had squeezed 2-1 despite a last-minute surge by Leafs. "Who was my big man?" shouted Abel, "the guy that is always big... Gordie Howe."

WINGS REJOICE

Howe and Abel posed happily for pictures with National Hockey League rookie Lee Hawley, whose first period goal on top of Howe's gave Wings the victory. It was Hawley's second goal in 28 games in the league.

Leaf coach George (Punch) Imlach, who had predicted the team would take the seven-game series in five games, was backing down in a Toronto dressing room as sombre as Detroit's was wild.

"We've still got to win four. I don't know when," Imlach said his team was nervous at the start. "It's one of those games when the breaks beat you."

THAT'S THE ONE

In the Wings' room Abel and his players, who evidently had resented Imlach's dismissal of their chances in the playoff, took his prediction to task.

"He was going to give us one game — I guess that's the one," chided Abel.

Chief concern in the Wings' camp was goaltender Terry Sawchuk, who fell to the ice with a minute remaining in the game after a collision with defenceman Carl Brewer.

"He charged me all the way up," said Sawchuk, still dazed, and favoring his left shoulder.

The effectiveness of Wings' defensive pattern showed up in the shots on Sawchuk — five in the first period, six in the second, and seven in the third for a total of 18 Johnny Bower handled 28 Wing drives.

Leafs hurt their chances in the second period when they drew three penalties and were short-handed for six straight minutes. Of the game's 10 penalties, Leafs were called for seven.

CANADIEN-HAWK GAME ON TELEVISION TONIGHT

The CBC said Wednesday it has changed plans and will televise tonight's Chicago-at-Montreal National Hockey League playoff game over the full national network starting at 6:30 (Victoria time). It will be seen on Channels 2 and 6.

The CBC had announced earlier the game would be carried only on the French network and on English stations in Montreal and Quebec City.

IN HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

Invisible Foe Rough on Visiting Cagers

By MIKE FOX

VANCOUVER — An unseen enemy haunted the benches of Vancouver Island teams in the 15th annual B.C. high school invitational basketball tournament Wednesday at UBC War Memorial gym.

He was the diabolical little devil who dispenses distasteful doses of "tournament nerves" to his victims.

He sits back and laughs quietly when players hobble their dribbles and miss their shots.

George "Porky" Andrews, coach of Victoria Totems, Gary and road conditions have forced cancellation of an April 23 ski tournament of nearby Silver Ski Mountain.

Andrews, an all-American guard on the 1942 University of Oregon basketball squad, credited his Totems' loss to nerves and inexperience. Defending B.C. and tournament champion Victoria didn't resemble last year's team until the final quarter.

Victoria outscored the much bigger Gladstone (Gladstone was the lone island team) 19-14 in the last period, but lost 51-36. Gladstone is the lower mainland number two team through the toughest whipping.

In Oak Bay's 36-38 loss to the Lumby Timbermen 33-24, the top they still displayed nervousness and missed easy layups.

Curacy at the top line could not keep the line from being spelled the biggest upset. Jerry Montgomery was glad to get his sloppy game out of the tournament's history.

Oak Bay, the Islands' number three team, scored only eight of a possible 14 free throws.

A bobbled pass on a break away in the dying seconds of Alberni's game could have resulted in a basket, forcing a tie and a possible victory in overtime. Alberni fell 45-47 to Pentstemon Lakers.

Island champion Courtenay Cougars were the lone island team to advance in the single play-off over previous years.

One of the coaches gave his version of tournament nerves.

"You can usually notice it first at mealtime. The kids pick at their dinner, and that's not normal for high school boys."

The nervousness costs us experience for the players, it helps them grow up."

Free Throws Gladstone looks like the class team of the tournament.

They're opening round. Workboys bounding against Victoria was received a cut head after being involved in a collision with a Victoria player.

Except the pain. Tab Glad through the final quarter, stane forwards John Cook and He was taken to UBC hospital for Thomas as all-star candidate for treatment and later released. Bush scored 18 points, leading Cook established a foul Victoria's lineup today for the shot record, scoring 12, one consolation round.

Other Wednesday scores: Vancouver 45, Kimberley 41, Chilliwack 24, Magee 55, Semu 44, Abbotsford 55, boys.

Although there isn't a team in the tournament comparable to last year's Victoria team, on the whole there's a vast improvement in the calibre of play over previous years.

Right Time For Bonus, Says Hank

VANCOUVER (CP) — With a new baby in the house, $500 always comes in handy.

That was Hank Bassen's first reaction when advised that he and Guy Fielder tied in voting for the Western Hockey League's award as most valuable player.

Counting of the secret ballot was done here Wednesday.

Bassen, reheaded goaltender with the league champion Vancouver Canucks, and Fielder, Seattle Totems' perennial award-winning centre, each polled 35 votes in balloting among players and coaches of the seven WHL teams.

The award sponsors, who this year donated the Walker Trophy and put up a $500 cash bonus, said they'd provide two replicas of the trophy and will double the cash ante.

No one else was close to the two winners in the balloting, in which 106 votes were cast. Dennis Rigan of Edmonton Flyers was closest with seven votes. Lou Jankowski of Calgary and Al Rollins of Winnipeg each got five votes. Marcel Pelletier of Victoria four, Art Jones of Victoria, Gene Achtymichuk of Edmonton and Rudy Filion of Seattle each got three.

Inter-City Loop Attracts Victoria

Victoria will join five Washington cities this summer in an inter-city senior baseball league.

The local entry was announced Wednesday, following an executive meeting of the Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association.

Schedule and final plans for the league will be completed at a meeting in Tacoma within the next 10 days.

Other entries are the Belingham Belts, Cheney Studs and teams from Fort Lewis, Centralia and Aberdeen.

Art Worth will be manager-coach of the Victoria squad, which is expected to be able to hold its own with strong entries from the other cities.

The District Association also said it would continue to operate its four-team Senior Amateur League for players over 37.

It was the ninth straight victory for Valiant, who completed the course in 32 minutes, 6 seconds.

Lincoln and teammates Gary Kidson and Eric Carlson finished behind Valiant in that order.

Oak Bay's Ron Gummier and Eric Henry grabbed the next two places; Palle Jensen, of Vic-High was seventh; John Cliff of the YMCA, eighth; and Alan Vallant, of Vic High, ninth.

Richardson skipped his Victoria rink into the finals of the main event at the fourth annual navy bonspiel here Wednesday.

Richardson today meets another Ottawa rink, skipped by Ches Hartman, for the Navy curling crown. Hartman reached the finals Wednesday with an 8-4 win over Bill Kingston's Ottawa rink.

THANKS TO COLWOOD OFFER

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

A total of 44 golfers get a chance at the silverware in the Times' Vancouver Island Open championships because of the consideration and generosity shown Wednesday night by the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Although it did not wish to set a precedent, the Colwood club, through executive member Vic Painter, expressed willingness to accept "as many golfers as possible" within a time limit of six hours off the first tee.

The offer, accepted with thanks by the Victoria District Golf Committee, enables a field of 164 to tee off for Sunday's qualifying round, or 44 more than the limit prescribed.

The Times also wishes to publicly add its thanks to the Colwood club.

You can't fault Oak Bay's two youthful golf instructors for failing to be good teachers.

Professional Laurie Carroll and assistant Roy Chappell provided excellent demonstration on two city courses at the weekend on how the game of golf should be played. Each scored a hole-in-one.

Chappell, playing with two U.S. visitors in a teaching round at Victoria Golf Club, saved his best lesson for the difficult, 218-yard seventh. The Stateside pupils were so thrilled with the lesson Saturday that they decided to supply a bonus tutoring fee.

Carroll, who must rate careful attention in the forthcoming Island Open, dropped his timely ace during Sunday's open button match at Gorge Vale.

Teamed with Dr. George Bigelow, Carroll used the ace to help defeat Uplands' combination of Frank Scroggs and Bob Morrison in the final match of the winter campaign.

It was the first ace for Chappell and Carroll's second. And before leaving Oak Bay's professional ranks, former club pro Phil Taylor comes out with another "Tip From the Top" in this week's issue of Sports Illustrated.

It's Phil's second guest appearance in the magazine and was written before he retired.

The Victoria District Golf Committee's junior development program this season may wind up to be one of the most successful in the Dominion. Entry date for enrollment is March 30 and several of the 18 schools participating have already requested additional application forms.

With lessons open to girls this season, the program is one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by the Victoria Committee. Enrollment is expected to reach at least 400.

Students should complete their application forms as soon as possible and send them to the secretary, Gorge Vale Golf Club, not later than March 30. The lessons get under way April 11.

SHORT CHIPS: Mrs. F. G. Usher recorded a three-round net total of 231 to capture the Darcus Cup in the Uplands ladies' competition that ended Tuesday. Sharing runnerup honors at 233 were Mrs. K. E. Wildman and Mrs. G. D. Ball. Mrs. A. Swan edged Mrs. Wildman by two strokes in the J. H. Robinson Trophy hunt. And for TV fans, Vancouver's Stan Leonard faces Dow Finsterwald on Friday's All-Star Golf program on Channel 11 at 8 p.m.

E. H. Williams and Frank Partington captured Robinson Trophy honors over 66 Uplands rivals in competition last weekend. Partington chalked up a net 65 to edge Morris Coxworth by three strokes while Gord Fellow, with a 71, won low gross honors with Eric Hobberson second by a stroke. Williams won the seniors' Robinson Trophy, with a 72 net and Eric Badminton took gross honors with an 86.

Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club left its doors open for the tardy and a record-entry of 164 is ready to march down its long, exacting fairways in quest of the 1960 Times' Vancouver Island Open match play championships.

The qualifying round for the Island's major tee tournament will be played Sunday. Match play gets under way the following week with the low 32 gross scorers paired off in the Times Trophy hunt while the low 32 net markers chase the Hugo Francis (handicap) Trophy.

Additional rounds will be played at Uplands April 10, at Victoria club April 17, at Colwood, April 24, and the 36-hole finals May 1st Gorge Vale.

ALL-TIME HIGH

The new all-time high starting field was assured when Colwood offered to waive the limit of 120 because of the great entry. That limit was surpassed on the arrival of the first load of mail for tournament secretary Leo Derman.

The second mail delivery raised the count to 151 and third-day entries raised the total to over 160. Colwood representative Vic Painter said his club did not wish to set a precedent, but would accept all entries that could be started off the first tee between 7:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

That took care of the entire entry list and eliminated, among other things, extra work that would have been required to draw out over-the-limit entries.

SPECIAL MEETING

The qualifying round draw was made Wednesday night at a special Victoria District Golf Committee meeting.

The meeting also decided to crack down on golfers who fail to tee off at their prescribed starting times. Failure to be on the first tee will mean disqualification or, in case of match play, loss of match.

The rule will be strictly observed for the Times tournament.

Tigerettes Triumph

HAMILTON (CP)—Quigley Tigerettes won the Ontario and Eastern Canadian Senior Ladies basketball title Wednesday night, trouncing Toronto's Varsity Grads 70-36 in the second game of their two-game total-point series.

The Tigerettes took the series 137-74.

FOR RICHARDSONS:

It's a Clean Sweep

GLASGOW (CP)—Canada The victories enabled the five-match 1960 Scotch Cup curling series Wednesday with two final-day victories. Regina's Ernie Richardson rink swamped Hugh Neilson's Scottish champions 16-4 after taking the fourth match 8-4. The Scottish team was impressed by the accuracy of the Canadians.

Only the fifth game of the series was one-sided.

GOOD NEWS FOR CANADIAN CAR OWNERS

New Lower Rates For Allstate Auto Insurance

NEW LOWER RATES for careful drivers

Allstate has always rewarded the careful driver with lower rates for Liability insurance. Now if you've had 4 years of accident-free driving experience, you may qualify for an even greater saving on Liability insurance.

NEW LOWER RATES for collision insurance

Now in addition Allstate offers further savings on Collision insurance to careful drivers. Allstate's rates for this valuable coverage are now about 14% lower than they were before—and they were already low!

NEW LOWER RATES even if you drive to work

You'll enjoy a lower "pleasure car" rate if your car is not used in business except for driving short distances to and from work.

NEW LOWER RATES for "low mileage" drivers

Allstate's low rates are further reduced depending on how many miles your car is driven each year.

NEW LOWER RATES for mature drivers

If your car is usually driven by only one or two people—neither of them a male under age 25—you may qualify for added savings with Allstate auto insurance.

NEW LOWER RATES for just about everyone

Allstate's rates are lower than those of most other companies. Of course savings depend on where you live and how your car is used, as well as your driving record. Your Allstate Agent can give you the exact information in dollars and cents.

WHY ALLSTATE'S RATES ARE LOW

Right from the start, Allstate has used modern, direct selling methods and efficient business principles to keep operating costs low. Savings are passed on to you in the form of low rates. Low rates, combined with top-quality protection and good claims service, have made Allstate one of Canada's largest auto-insurance companies—with over a quarter of a million policyholders. The added economies made possible by Allstate's growth are reflected in the new, lower rates you pay for Allstate insurance.

CLAIMS OFTEN PAID "ON THE SPOT"

Allstate believes claims service should be timed by the clock—not the calendar. That's why Allstate claims expeditors settle many claims right "on the spot."

CROSS-CANADA CLAIMS SERVICE

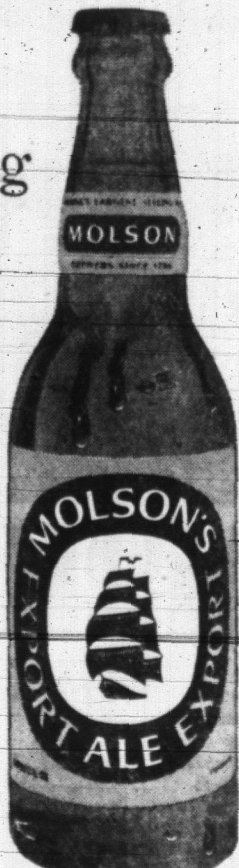

Allstate maintains its own staff of full-time, salaried claims expeditors—the largest of its kind in the auto insurance business. Wherever you drive, help from Allstate is as near as the nearest telephone.

Now that it's more important than ever to have really good auto insurance protection, you owe it to yourself to investigate and compare values soon. Talk to an Allstate Agent at any location listed below. Or call, and ask him to visit your home. May we help you?

WASTE BURIED SAFELY

They're Making 'Nuclear Coffins'

NANAIMO — Ready to meet the atomic age head-on is International Anti-Radiation Ltd., of Northfield, three miles north of here, which is manufacturing protective shelters and containers for safe disposal of radioactive wastes.

The firm, first of its type in Canada and supported by British capital, also makes food-and-water containers.

Arthur Robinson, president, has expressed concern over the apathy of British Columbians toward the dangers of radio-active fallout.

"Unless it is under control by the year 2000 all mankind will be irreparably affected," he said in an interview at the company's plant.

He also said his firm could build nuclear reactors to develop electrical power at a fraction of the cost of proposed power developments on the mainland. Output of the nuclear plants would equal that of the hydro installations, he said.

Speaking of the dangers connected with atomic engineering he mentioned the "frightening" case at Burbank, Calif., where radioactive magnesium wastes had been put into old oil drums and "dumped haphazardly into the sea."

His firm makes a disposal unit known as a "bloop sphere," consisting of a glass inner container, steel frame or cradle, and fibreglas outer container, or shroud. The assembled components form a unit weighing less than 200 pounds. For final disposal it is contained in a concrete shell.

Radioactive sludge or small metal scraps are placed into the glass inner container. Unit will stand deep ocean pressures, and prevent escape of dangerous materials if dumped in mud flats or other waste lands.

TOFINO PLEA BY MLA

Road Wide Open in Summer

PORT ALBERNI — John Squire, Alberni MLA, said here on his return from the legislature that he hopes to see the Alberni-Tofino Road opened for unlimited use during June, July, and August.

At present it is closed during hours when logging company trucks are at work. Mr. Squire said he had discussed the proposal with the highway department, but was told only that matters of access and maintenance on the road would receive consideration.

He said also that he had suggested continuation of a survey to locate a road close to the water level on Taylor Arm, a part of Sprout Lake, in order that tourists and travellers may bypass switchbacks and adverse grades on the road used by MacMillan, Bloedel, and Powell River Ltd.

Club Helps Fire Victims

COBBLE HILL — Mill Bay Community League this week donated proceeds from its regular 500 party to Mr. and Mrs. John Lang, whose home near the Cobble Hill-Mill Bay cutoff was destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang and their two sons were in Duncan at the time of the fire, believed caused by a gas stove explosion. Don Marrs, a neighbor, was able to save some livestock from a nearby barn.

65 Years In Prison

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — Martin Dalton, who spent 65 years in prison for a robbery-slaving, died Wednesday at 91. He served the longest time of any man at the Rhode Island State Prison. He was offered parole more than 30 years ago, but when taken outside decided against freedom. Life had changed too much.

SAFE SAFER SO THIEVES GOT DIAMONDS

NANAIMO (CP) — A case of diamond rings valued at more than $5,000 was stolen early Wednesday from Stan Dyde Wholesale Limited by thieves who failed to open the safe, but found the gems hidden in an office.

A company spokesman said the rings were hidden in the office—instead of being put in the safe—as a precaution against safe crackers.

Campbell River Painter Wins Vancouver Prize

CAMPBELL RIVER — A painting by local artist Ken Galloway was selected as one of the three best among 125 in the Canadian Federation of Artists' spring exhibition in Vancouver.

First prize of $150 went to Terry Prescott, of Vancouver. Runners-up Mr. Galloway and Mrs. Irene Morrison of Vancouver, each received $75. The judges were Dr. William Dalg, Vancouver Art Gallery director; Charles Stegeman, and Mrs. Lawren Harris.

SOOKE — Stan Jones was elected this week as president of Sooke Community Association, sponsor of the annual All-Sooke Day celebration on Sooke River flats.

Date for the event this year has been set for July 23.

Vice-president of the association is Robert Waters, and W. E. Weir as secretary. Directors are Frank Richardson, Bert Muford, Pat Welsh, John Martin, Jr., Harry Helgesen, Mrs. William Eddy, Mrs. Alf Nix, Mrs. Ed Robinson, and Mrs. Alan Smith.

A treasurer and one more director will be appointed at the first meeting of the new board of directors.

Committee chairmen are Mr. Muford, publicity; Mr. Waters, grounds; Eric Butler, marathon; and Mrs. Robinson, prizes. Members of the sports committee are Eric Michelsen, Mr. Jones, and Mr. Helgesen.

Funds on hand will be used for repairs and improvements to the community hall. A cement basement and roller rink are being considered.

Beef Prices Down

DUNCAN — Two yearling Hereford bulls from the Mount Sicker herd of Thomas Groves, Westholme, were among the animals successfully consigned to the annual provincial bull sale at Kamloops last week.

Over-all prices of all beef bulls were down because of the too-large entry.

The highest price for an Aberdeen-Angus bull was secured by Woodwynn Farms, Saanichton, with a yearling which fetched $750.

RATEPAYERS DEFEND SCHOOL STATUS

Koksilah Won't Be Demoted

COBBLE HILL — Koksilah Valley Taxpayers' Association will fight the suggested "downgrading" of George E. Bonner Junior-Senior High School to a junior high.

At a meeting Wednesday night, some 65 members approved a recommendation that a supreme court judge rule on the downgrading proposed by trustees of Cowichan School District 65, and that the school board and education department refrain from taking action until a decision has been made.

George E. Bonner, for whom the school was named, and G. R. Hamilton were members of the committee charged with investigating the move.

They reported that the school now enjoys equal status with Cowichan High School at Duncan, and that its curriculum is equal to that of large Vancouver high schools.

Downgrading will give no relief from taxation because of the financing system in effect in B.C.

The school as a senior high has considerable attraction for people planning on settling in the Cobble Hill-Mill Bay area, he said, and reducing its status would cause a decline in property values in the area.

Post Office Vote Meet Cancelled

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — The city council has turned down a request for a public meeting to discuss the post office issue.

Citizens have asked a plebiscite to decide between renovating the old post office and getting carrier service from Port Alberni. The council decided to renovate the building.

BOAT SHOW OPENS TONIGHT

NANAIMO — Third annual boat show will open tonight at 7 at Exhibition Park, with exhibits from Victoria, Vancouver, and Nanaimo on view.

Hours tonight and Friday will be from 7 to 11 p.m. and on Saturday it will be open from 1 p.m. to 11.

Peterson to Speak

DUNCAN — Education Minister Leslie Peterson will speak here Monday at a Social Credit meeting in Knights of Pythias Hall, Brae Road, starting at 8 p.m. It will be open to the public.

Cowichan Fishing Reserve Studied

New Golf Club Planned

GANGES — Salt Spring Island Golf Club was bought this week by Gavin Bilton and Harold Ruabba of Vancouver, who play to build a modern clubhouse to replace that destroyed by fire last Nov. 20.

Mr. Bilton, a former Salt Spring resident and son of Mrs. A. McManus, Pulford, will move to the island in about six weeks, and hopes to have the new clubhouse open by July 1.

Possibility of acquiring a 13-acre public fishing site on the Cowichan River near Duncan is being studied by the parks division of the B.C. recreation and conservation department.

Recreations Minister Earle Westwood says it is possible his department will act on the Cowichan Fish and Game Association's request that the land be preserved for public use before it is sold and closed off.

The department has already secured public access to the Cowichan.

What makes a leader? Not size. Not shouting. Not frills. Just being the first to come out with the most new ideas. That's why today, automobile leadership has passed to the new Triumph Herald. Here is a car that provides more new ideas than any car on the market... ideas that you want. Ideas for easy handling... from a 25 ft. turning circle that lets you park the Herald in inches more than its own length to independent suspension on all four wheels that keeps it glued to the road on the tightest turn. Ideas for economy—like the reduction of greasing to a once a year job, or gas mileage that's way up between 35 and 40 miles to the gallon. Ideas for comfort—with a driver's seat that's adjustable 45 different ways for leg room, height, and tilt. Ideas for safety—such as control tower visibility and a steering column that collapses on impact. Practical ideas, like the 13 cu. ft. of trunk space uncluttered by the spare wheel. Or, in the Sedan, a back seat that folds forward to extend the trunk to station wagon capacity. And, of course, most wonderful idea of all, a price that for once, comes as a pleasant surprise. Be up with the leaders. Test drive a Herald Sedan or for a new experience in motoring... enjoy the thrilling sports car performance of the twin carburetor Coupé. See them at your Standard-Triumph dealer's.

Independent suspension on all four wheels—Shares with a few high-priced cars the unique feature of independent suspension on all four wheels. Combined with front engine and rear drive this gives you unsurpassed ride, road holding, cornering and safety.

No more greasing worries—Steering ball joints need no lubrication whatever. Nylon and bonded rubber are used on front and rear suspension points. Only wheel hubs, water pump and steering box require attention every 12,000 miles of normal driving.

Lots of luggage room—There's 13 cu. ft. of trunk space, uncluttered by the spare wheel. And in the Triumph Herald Sedan, the rear seat folds forward to increase the size of the trunk to station wagon capacity.

Park in a space only 36" longer than the car—With only inches to spare between you and the car in front, you can drive right out of a parking space. You can make a U-turn in a road only 25 ft. wide. Measure it. Steering is light, gear change gives finger-tip ease of control.

'Whipper' Here Friday

"Whipper" Billy Watson, wrestling champion who also champions crippled kiddies, will arrive in Victoria Friday to throw his not inconsiderable weight behind the Easter Seal campaign on behalf of the B.C. Society for Crippled Children.

This is the third time Mr. Watson has toured Canada at his own expense to aid unfortunate youngsters, publicizing the Easter Seal drive.

Objective in B.C. this year is $100,000. Mr. Watson will be accompanied by "Timmy," symbol of the B.C. campaign, a Vancouver boy who lost his legs in an accident.

61 Piglets at Once!

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A three-year-old sow on a hog-breeding farm in Communist China's eastern Shantung province has given birth to 61 piglets in one litter, the New China news agency says. The piglets, which all survived, weighed a total 88 pounds.

Go Ahead on Family Court
Special Committee Urges

A special intermunicipal steering committee Wednesday recommended that Greater Victoria councils ask the attorney-general to establish a joint family and juvenile court.

The municipalities, if they agree to the recommendation, would share costs of the judge's salary, clerk's salary and expenses of two probation officers.

The court would sit in each municipality.

The councils also were warned that ultimate costs of the court might go beyond the $12,000 figure indicated by the attorney-general's department. Saanich Coun. Ainslie Worthington, Oak Bay Coun. Alan Cox and Ald. Mrs. Lily

Wilson were appointed to study the cost picture further in an effort to fix the probable cost to a firm figure.

The steering committee also decided to investigate possibilities of acquiring the federal immigration building at the Outer Wharf for a nominal sum to use as a juvenile detention home and headquarters for the unified court.

Franco Foe Dies

PARIS (AP)—Jose Antonio Aguirre, 56, president of the Spanish basque government-in-exile, died today. The long-time foe of the Franco regime in Madrid suffered from heart disease. During the Spanish Civil War he was president of the Republican basque government. He took refuge in Paris after the war.

Several members of the committee argued that firm cost figures should be assembled so that councils could make up their minds on whether or not they would participate.

But Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said the only method of determining costs was to start the court "and see how it works out."

"Before our council will go for it, they will want firm cost figures," replied Saanich Reeve George Chatterton.

THE WORLD'S BEST
TRANSISTOR RADIO

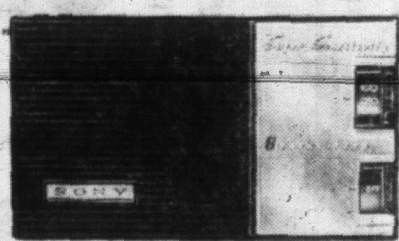

Over 200,000 Canadians now own Sonys — far more than own any other make of transistor radios. That's because Canadians have discovered there's nothing to compare with a Sony... in style, pull-in power, selectivity, tonal quality, battery economy and all-round dependability! No wonder Sony owners are such Sony enthusiasts... and no wonder Sony dealers so often suggest a side-by-side comparison with other makes. Why not check for yourself in both ways? Talk to a Sony owner — and treat yourself to a Sony demonstration! There's a Sony owner among your friends... and you'll find Sonys at better stores in your neighbourhood.

All Sony radios carry

SONY OWNERS SAY:

"I have owned at least four radios, but this Sony Transistor is by far the best. The sound is excellent. I can even reach the southern states of the U.S. (Florida, the Carolinas, Virginia, etc.)."
Maurice L. Lemieux, Cornwall, Ont.

"I have received several U.S.A. stations on my Sony which I think is wonderful. I also use it when going to the Lakes in the summertime."
Mrs. M. Chmilar, Edmonton, Alta.

"Let me compliment you on the outstanding performance which this radio is capable of producing."
Brian Farrell, Toronto, Ont.

"I like the set better than any other radio I have heard."
Preston Ede, Woodstock, Ont.

"I like the Sony TR610 for its size. No other transistor can compare with it (for its size). I especially like it for its appearance and power. How a radio that small can have such a good power output is amazing."
Doran Grieder, Calgary, Alta.

"I am getting lots of pleasure out of this Sony."
Mrs. E. Davis, Winnipeg, Man.

"With the aerial supplied, I am able to pick up stations at night, ranging as far as 1,500 miles away."
George Don Dawson, Regina, Sask.

"This machine has been a constant companion... and has given me many hours of pleasure."
W. Q. Finley, St. John's, N.S.

"I cannot close this letter without adding that this Radio is one of the most wonderful gifts I have received for many years and in my present condition, the result of War wounds, it will be worth its weight in gold to me."
Lieut. Arnold W. Little, Sennerville Lodge, Veterans Military Hospital, Sennerville, Que.

"I have had nothing but the best of reception... I can do nothing but recommend this radio as the best on the market and I have heard many others but they cannot compare with Sony."
Donald P. Gladney, St. John's, Nfld.

"We are enjoying our Sony Transistor so very much. We look forward to its use during summer travel and at the Lake."
Rev. J. A. Brown, Weymouth, Sask.

Argentina Quint Studying in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — One of the world's few quintuplets in their midst. Carlos Diligenti, who attends Vancouver College, was born with three sisters and a brother to Buenos Aires millionaires Mr. and Mrs. France Diligenti on July 15, 1943.

CARLOS DILIGENTI secret gets out

To avoid publicity and learn independence, each of the Diligenti quintuplets attends school in a different part of the world. The family is reunited in Argentina each year.

When the quintuplets were born, Mr. Diligenti kept the facts from the world by registering each arrival at a different place and swearing his household to secrecy.

Even though the quintuplets live apart, powerful bonds keep the five together mentally.

One of the girls was injured in a car accident recently. Carlos said he actually felt some of the pain himself, even though he was in school thousands of miles away.

Gov't to Probe Charges Of Richmond 'Monopoly'

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — J. Everett Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs, told a citizens' committee that the department will inquire into charges that certain members of Richmond council have used their offices for personal gain and to exert monopoly control.

The six-man committee, headed by Eugene Turko, approached Mr. Brown Wednesday in Victoria.

General accusations include withholding information; secret purchases; and letting contracts without tenders were levelled against councils from 1954 on.

Most of the charges concern a gravel pit, bought for $160,000 by the municipality last year, trucking contracts for hauling gravel for Richmond and rezoning land for a curling rink.

MURDER CHARGE

PORT MOODY — Thomas Ralph Simms, 24, was charged with the murder of his wife by police here late Wednesday. Mrs. Beverley Grace Simms, 23, a nurse, was found shot to death in the bathroom of the couple's small, white house.

Mrs. Simms' body was found when Simms drove the six blocks from his home to the police station.

The couple were married in February last year.

HEARING SET

VANCOUVER — Hearing into charges under the lottery, section of the Criminal Code against Shop-Easy Stores was set Wednesday for April 5.

The food retail chain, its president, William Sheardown, and 12 store managers in

DEAD OF INJURIES

VANCOUVER — Two men died in Vancouver hospitals today of injuries suffered earlier in accidents. Cecil Douglas, 45, was injured yesterday at Port McNeill and flown to hospital here. Details of the accident were not known. The second victim, John Mosheim, 53, of Vancouver, died of head injuries suffered when he fell and struck his head on a sidewalk March 14.

Drugged Trucker Murder Suspect

STARVED ROCK STATE PARK, Ill. (UPI) — Police waited today for an Iowa truck driver to awaken from a nine-day drugged sleep so they can question him about the sex murders of three women in this park.

The trucker was found in a stupor in a Rock Falls, Ill., hotel the day after three Chicago-area society mafrons were trapped, beaten to death and raped 50 miles away in a scenic dead-end canyon here.

Authorities said the 39-year-old man, a psychotic, induced the coma by swallowing a packet of barbiturates. He has not awakened through his transfer from the hotel to a Sterling, Ill., hospital, then to the Veterans' Administration Hospital at Iowa City, Iowa.

State Police Chief William Morris said the trucker resembled the description of a man seen with Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, and Mrs. Mable Lindquist, 50, shortly before they were murdered and left lying side by side in a cave in a St. Louis canyon.

Iowa City psychiatrists placed the man in a maximum security mental ward and refused Morris' request that Illinois state police be allowed to question him immediately.

Missing Girl Sought By Esquimalt Police

Esquimalt police ask public assistance in seeking a 16-year-old girl missing from her home since Saturday noon.

She is identified as Geraldine Hardy, 506 Sturdee, believed to be in company with a girl friend.

When last seen she wore blue and green tartan slacks, a black sweater, a blue wind-breaker and black shoes, and she is described as being blue-eyed, with blond hair; five feet six inches tall and weighing 120 pounds.

Anyone with information is asked to contact police at EV 5-1441.

LIFE TERM FOR MAN WHO BEHEADED WOMAN

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP) — Patrick Joseph Byrne today was convicted of the murder of Stephanie Baird, 29-year-old stenographer found decapitated in a girl's hostel two days before Christmas. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The all-male jury at Birmingham assizes took only 45 minutes to bring in a guilty verdict.

The crime, though one of the most gruesome in British criminal history, did not fall within the narrow category of hanging offences.

Baird admitted that he broke into the Birmingham YWCA hostel last Dec. 23, strangled Stephanie while trying to kiss her, then carved off her head with a kitchen knife.

CROSS BURNING, PICKETS AT WHITE HOUSE

Integration Picture Still Bleak

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) —

A school official says that although Negroes have cracked the color barrier in Little Rock, a cruel situation exists in the integrated classrooms.

Everett Tucker, school board president, told a federal judge on Wednesday that the eight Negroes attending integrated high schools are shunned by their white classmates.

Negro students had protested to Judge John E. Miller the school board's use of an Arkansas pupil placement law to limit integration. The board has assigned only a few Negroes to once-white high schools, and has rejected applications of about 50.

Elsewhere in the United States, fights and a cross-burning marked an episode at an integrated air force radar station near Albuquerque, N.M. In Washington, a group of about 20 white and Negro college students picketed the White House in support of Negro demonstrations against segregation of lunch counters in the southern states.

The church entered the picture in Princeton, N.J., and Orono, in Maine.

Approximately 150 students and townspeople attended a special service in the Princeton University chapel to express Christian concern of racial discrimination in the South and North.

Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Boston told a church meeting in Orono that the sit-in demonstrations are a test of Christianity.

Council Slashes at Budget But City Taxes Sure to Rise

$22 Grant Hike 'Out the Window'

Two-thirds of a proposed $70,500 mercury lighting program for residential areas was slashed by an aldermanic committee today in an effort to cut back 1960 estimates to last year's levels.

City lighting committee swung an axe 16 times to cut $52,665 from the $234,805 gross estimates for ordinary and capital spending.

This kept the increase over last year's $180,229 gross estimate down to $1,900.

"It seems almost impossible for us to avoid an increase in the city budget this year, so we've just got to start cutting down somewhere," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"We're not cutting indiscriminately but on a realistic basis," he added.

City council is expected to attack the completed estimates of all departments in the first week of May to fashion the 1960 budget by the May 15 deadline set in the Municipal Act.

Present indications are that the estimates will point at a four-mill increase or more this year—which would almost wipe out the $22 homeowners' grant increase ($28 to $50).

LIGHTING CUT

The committee whittled $11,015 from the $164,280 estimates for ordinary expenditures on street lighting.

But it ripped $41,650 out of the $70,525 proposed capital program to keep the overall lighting budget down. All of the capital program was for extension of the mercury lighting system along arterial roads in the residential areas.

Recommended for approval were:

Mercury lights along Oak Bay Avenue from McGregor to Post Bay Road; Cook, from Pandora to Dallas Road; Burnside, from Douglas to Harriet; and Pandora, from Quadra to Cook.

THROWN OUT

Tossed out for this year were:

Fort, from Cook to Foul Bay Road; Hillside, from Douglas to Shelbourne; Gorge, from Government to Harriet; Yates, from Cook to Fort, and Wharf, from Johnson to Government.

At the same time, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said he will oppose a proposal to replace downtown cluster lights with mercury lamps.

He suggested that replacement of the 30-watt bulbs in the cluster lights with 100-watt bulbs would overcome the lack of lighting in the downtown area.

WORSE HAZARD

But lighting superintendent Kenneth Reid said that would double the glare problem and increase existing traffic hazards caused by the cluster light system.

He said the cluster lights were so low that they were in a driver's line of vision as he looked down a block.

This created special dangers for bus drivers on rainy nights. Increasing wattage would only result in increased accidents, he said.

Public works committee was to begin hacking at its estimates Friday.

STUDENT CANVASS

Gala Kickoff On Campus

A sign-raising, parade, and launching of a students' drive for funds have been scheduled for next Wednesday to mark the start of new construction at Victoria University.

At 3 p.m. Works Minister W. N. Chant will raise a sign on the campus to mark the site of a $250,000 classroom building, first construction work on the undertaking which will give Victoria a full-fledged university.

More than 1,000 students, provincial, civic and university officials, and representatives of business and professional groups, will be on hand for the ceremony.

IMMEDIATE START

Immediately it is completed Farmer Construction Co., which was awarded a $12,182 contract for excavations, will begin work on the project.

At 3:30 p.m. a cavalcade of cars carrying students will leave the university for a downtown parade to be directed by Ron Barquhar.

The university band will be in the lead, with Marion Ardley, students' council president, in the first car. Campus queen Lynne Alexander will follow in the second, and Joan Moffat, Homecoming queen, will be in the third car. John Anderson, next students' council president, will be fourth.

POLICE ESCORT

The first 25 cars in the cavalcade, which will carry banners announcing the start of the drive for funds, will have police escort. Remaining cars will be governed by regular traffic controls.

The parade will disband at the Gordon Head campus, where students will assemble in the drill hall for a hot-dog meal and briefing before picking up kits and setting out on their canvass of Greater Victoria homes at 6:45 p.m.

It is expected the canvass will be over at 9 p.m. After returns are compiled there will be dancing from 10 to midnight.

Former UBC Professor Dies at 72

Prof. Thorleif Larsen, a member of the University of British Columbia English department from 1919 to 1958, has died in Vancouver aged 72.

Born in Sponviken, Norway, he came to British Columbia in 1890, obtained his M.A. degree from the University of Toronto in 1907 and was named Rhodes Scholar for British Columbia.

Prof. Larsen taught at Victoria High on return from Oxford in 1911, then practised law from 1915 to 1917 when he enlisted in the Canadian Army.

In 1919 he became a lecturer in English at UBC.

The funeral will be held Friday, in Vancouver.

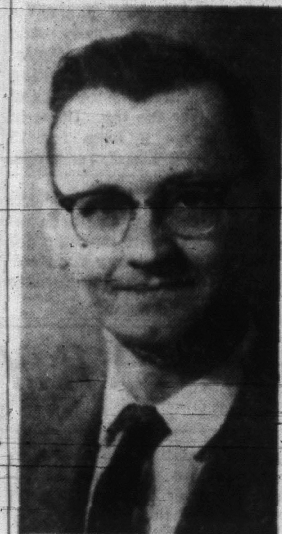

Survivors include the widow, Irene; three sons, including Edward Larsen, headmaster at Shawinigan Lake School, and a daughter, Miss Mary Jeanne Larsen, of Victoria.

Bigamy Charge Against Woman

A Victoria woman accused of having two husbands since 1955 was charged in city police court today with bigamy.

Ruby Maxine Kandall, also known as Ruby Maxine Billett, 1544 Burton, was remanded to Friday for election at request of counsel Alan Bigelow.

It is charged that the accused committed bigamy Dec. 21, 1955, when she went through a form of marriage to Clarence Billett, at which time she was married to Kenneth Timai Kandall.

SHELL MERIT FELLOWSHIP for study at Stanford University this summer has been won by Henry E. Shell, teacher at Comox and Courtenay since 1951, and vice-principal of Courtenay High School since 1957. Educated at Victoria College and UBC, he served overseas with the RCAF in the Second World War, and will study mathematics, chemistry, physics and education techniques at Stanford. Fellowships are granted on basis of merit and leadership qualities.

HONG KONG RECEIVES JAYCEE CLOTHING GIFT

Three thousand pounds of used clothing collected by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce were delivered in Hong Kong Wednesday, for distribution to the needy by six welfare organizations.

The clothing was transported in three RCN Pacific Command destroyer escorts based at Esquimalt. HMC Ships Saguenay, Ottawa, and St. Laurent are on an extended training cruise which includes operations with USN units.

C. M. Forsyth-Smith, Canadian trade commissioner in Hong Kong, made the presentation on behalf of the Jaycees to Alex S. C. Wu, president of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber.

Diver's Death Plea Not Guilty

Two pleas of "not guilty" were entered in Assize Court today in connection with the July 19, 1959, death of Richard Henry Willoughby, 27, 1837 Crescent.

Herbert Murray Stockall, Sidney, a director of "Shoal Harbor Marine Service Ltd., made his own plea on a charge of criminal negligence, while defence counsel Gerald A. Lauder entered a similar plea on behalf of the company.

Crown prosecutor Alan Macfarlane said the Crown case against the accused and his company rested on the fact Stockall "did certain (electrical) wiring" on the marina floats, and the Crown would show the wiring "was improperly done."

The wiring, he said, was "dangerous." Willoughby, a skin diver, was seen to come to a float from the water at the marina when "something happened."

It was believed he was electrocuted when he touched an electrical outlet.

Willoughby was pulled from the water and taken to hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Student Gets Off In Liquor Theft

John Clifford Isherwood, now a first-year arts student at the University of Oregon, was acquitted by an Assize Court jury Wednesday evening of stealing a case of whisky from the Uplands Golf Club last December.

Isherwood, formerly of Victoria, left the court a free man after George Gregory, his counsel, had argued that the police evidence of theft was inconclusive.

The jury took only 20 minutes to consider its verdict.

Earlier, two Oak Bay constables told of being called to the club at 4:35 p.m., on December 11, when they searched for a missing case of whisky.

Constable Edward Parry said he found it buried in a pile of leaves and Constable Ralph Sinden hid nearby.

About 5:30 p.m., Constable Sinden said, a car pulled up opposite the pile of leaves and turned out its lights.

He saw the accused step out of the car, come through a laurel hedge, step over a stone fence and take a couple of strides past the pile of leaves.

SCRAPED LEAVES

He then turned to look both ways. Constable Sinden said, "and then he turned round, squatted down, scraped the leaves away from the top of the case, and put his arms down into the leaves as if to lift the case."

"He turned his head as he had his arms down in the leaves—he turned his head and he looked at me and he stepped back."

"I said: 'That is it, Isherwood.' And he said 'I don't know what you are talking about.'"

Mr. Gregory, in his address to the jury, said the constables should have waited longer before arresting Isherwood.

He argued that Constable Sinden only saw Isherwood put his arms down into the leaves. He did not see him lift the case out of the leaves and there was no evidence that he intended carrying it away or putting it in the car.

Mr. Gregory said the case against Isherwood rested entirely on "circumstantial evidence." And there was no proof, he said, that the case of whisky stolen from the club was the same as the case which was found buried under the pile of leaves nearby.

FOUND BY POLICE

Crown prosecutor Alan Macfarlane said a Liquor Control Board truck was making deliveries at the golf club about 4:15 p.m. on the day in question.

The driver was carrying liquor into the clubhouse a case at a time and found one case missing.

The accused had been seen in the vicinity during the afternoon. Oak Bay police searched the grounds and found a case of whisky covered with leaves nearby.

Mr. Macfarlane said there was every reason to believe that this was the stolen case and that Isherwood had hidden it with a view to picking it up later.

BIRTHDAY BOUQUETS FROM FAR AND WIDE

Hard to Go Slow at 100

Queen Elizabeth cabled her congratulations Wednesday to Mrs. Catherine Davy, celebrating her 100th birthday at a tea party at St. Charles Nursing Home.

"I wish everyone wouldn't go to all this trouble," smiled Mrs. Davy as gifts, cards and telegrams poured in from far and wide.

"After all, it's only a birthday."

Congratulations reached her from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, Lieut.-Gov. Frank MacKenzie-Ross and Premier Bennett. And many more came from friends and relatives.

BUSY FINGERS

"I feel just as I always feel," said Mrs. Davy who was born March 23, 1860 at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and came to Victoria 25 years ago.

She sat in the centre of an admiring group of 30 guests at the tea party in the nursing home, and all the time her fingers were busy crocheting a delicate piece of handwork.

"I can't be still for long—I have to keep active," Mrs. Davy said.

LARGE CAKE

Mrs. Gordon McArthur, proprietor of the nursing home, said Mrs. Davy only wears spectacles for crocheting.

In the dining room a large cake inscribed "Happy 100th Birthday" adorned the tea table, flanked by a large bowl of pink roses and freesia and pink candles. Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson presided.

Mrs. Davy has a son, Garnett W. Davy, and one daughter, Mrs. F. J. Whitworth, living in Victoria. Each have two grandchildren so there are four living generations of the family.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

James E. Dean, adjudicator in the B.C. Regional Drama Festival at Oak Bay Junior High School this week, will address a public luncheon in the Empress Hotel dining room on Saturday at 1 p.m.

His subject will be "Shakespeare on Stage."

Members of the public are welcome and tickets can be obtained from the festival registration desk in the Dominion Hotel up to Friday evening.

SHOPPING GUIDE

You'll Want to See These Flower Seeds From England

By PENNY SAVER

I'm one of those sentimentalists that cannot think of a fragrant old fashioned English garden without getting a generous dose of nostalgia! To those afflicted with the same weakness, news that one downtown store has a complete line of seeds from well known English firm that specializes in sweet-scented carnations and pinks will be a signal to start planning all sorts of wonderful things for this year's garden.

Varieties are too numerous to list and include annuals and perennials. Double, single and famous lacey flowers are included. There are flowers for cutting and others that would thrive in rock gardens. Packages are priced at 50 cents and 30 cents.

Blue Peter, only blue pink to be had, is included in those that sell at 30 cents a package.

If your daughter has grown out of all her warm weather play clothes you'll be interested in line of co-ordinates that I saw being unpacked this week. Made of cotton, sets come in aqua marine blue or willow green. Sizes range from three to 14.

Sleeveless chemise tops with contrast treatment can be teamed up with matching shorts, pedal pushers or Bermuda shorts. There is also a sleeveless blouse priced at $2.49 that can serve as an alternate. Small-sized pedal pushers sell for $2.98, larger $3.98. Depending on size, chemise tops are priced at $1.98 or $2.49. Shorts that have strong elasticized backs for better fit sell for $2.49 or $2.98. Bermuda short come in sizes seven to 14 and are priced at $2.98.

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

SHRIMP JAMBALAYA

Three cups cooked rice, 2 tbs. fat, 1 tbs. flour, 1/4 cup chopped onions, 1 clove garlic minced fine, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1/2 cup water, 1 green pepper chopped fine, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. red pepper, 1/4 tsp. red pepper, 1/4 tsp. thyme, 1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce, 2 cups cooked shrimp, 1 cup tomato juice, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 2 tbs. chopped parsley. Melt fat in skillet, stir in flour and blend thoroughly. Add onions and cook until tender. Add garlic, tomatoes, water, green pepper, salt, red pepper, thyme, Worcestershire sauce. Cook until pepper is tender. Stir occasionally. Add rice, shrimp and tomato juice. Pour into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle cheese and parsley over the top. Place in a 350-degree F oven for 15 minutes. Yields six servings.

Skin tones change over the years. Because you've been using one shade of make-up for a long time is a very good reason to check your preference with your beautician.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The relationship between fats in the diet and atherosclerosis, or narrowing and clogging of the blood vessels (which can cause strokes and heart attacks) has not yet been solved. Nevertheless, evidence accumulates which seems to indicate that there is a correlation. The Bantu natives of Africa have been the subject of much research because they are so remarkably free of heart disease. Also their blood cholesterol levels are very low and their diet is low in fat content.

A recent issue of the British Medical Journal carried the report of studies at the University of Capetown, South Africa. These were conducted by Dr. C. Merskey and seven colleagues. The test group consisted of 80 white male office workers, 53 migrant Bantu workers and 48 white men who have reduced circulation in the heart arteries due to coronary occlusions which occurred more than three months before.

The blood was given seven chemistry tests and there were also tests for blood clotting and clot dissolving. Regarding the cholesterol of blood levels, the average Bantu cholesterol blood level was about 160 Mg. per 100 cc. of serum (mg. per cent). The cholesterol level for the heart patients was 285 per cent and for the 80 white men, 265 per cent. The Bantus consume a diet consisting of only 20 per cent fat while the usual diet of the whites contains about 45 per cent fat.

This whole question is so complex and there are so many factors entering into the problem of heart and circulatory diseases that it may be some time before the secret unfolds in the research laboratories.

Nevertheless it seems to me that the average person would profit by some reduction of fat in the diet because of what is already known. I am sure that your physician would be glad to discuss this with you.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, March 24th—Was that a robin? Such a promise of Spring makes a cheery breakfast all the cheerier—especially if you're enjoying RED RIVER CEREAL. I mean that for Red River is as nourishing as it's delicious, with that wholesome blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax. You'll find it so easy to prepare—cooks in a few minutes. Costs so little, too. Be a wise, kind mother, and see that your family gets the benefits of Red River often. Youngsters and active workers find energy values in Red River, older folk and sedentary workers find it guards regularly. Red River is best for every one of us!

SOUP'S ON! And no matter what kind of soup it is... hot, cold, out of a can, or your own home brew... it will taste so much better served with MCCORMICK'S VERY THIN SALTIMES. You've never tasted crispier, more delicious saltines than these new thinner saltines with the slimmer shape. They're never too salty—always just right! That's because their flavour is protected by the Flavour Guard "Inner Pack". They're inner-wrapped in individual quarter-pound sections so that each and every cracker retains its fresh crispness. Yes, McCormick's new thinner Saltines taste so much better than ordinary crackers, yet they cost not a penny more!

DO YOU LONG to prepare truly glamorous dishes with no fuss or bother at all? Then be sure to keep NESTLE'S PURE THICK CREAM always handy in your kitchen cupboard. Nestle's Cream is rich, country cream that stays fresh indefinitely—right on your kitchen shelf. You'll find that it's perfect for extra-luscious dessert toppings—and in casserole dishes and salad dressings... in fact, ideal for any recipe calling for the smooth richness and flavour of cream. Be prepared, with the help of Nestle's Pure-Thick Cream, to delight your family and guests with delicious dishes—at a moment's notice!

IT'S NEARLY "EASTER BUNNY" TIME AGAIN! Golly, it seems only yesterday that "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer" was the hero of the hour. Yet, now's the time to insure against those after-Christmas bills next year. It's simple... all you do is figure out your Yuletide expenses now, divide the answer by the number of pay-days between now and December, and deposit that amount in a special Christmas Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. A B of M Gift Fund is the best way I know of putting "merry" into Christmas. Why not open yours today at your neighbourhood branch of "MY BANK"?

SPRING HOUSECLEANING getting you down? Well, here's a suggestion that can brighten your meals and give your appetite a lift. Use delicious, nutritious BLUE BONNET MARGARINE in your cooking, and on the table. You'll agree, I'm sure, that everything tastes better with Blue Bonnet on it! Blue Bonnet has that sunny-sweet flavor... because it's made from the finest ingredients... pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added. Yes, Blue Bonnet Margarine is one of the best ways I know to give you added nourishment.

LET ME SEND YOU a generous Free Trial Offer of the famed TEMPLETON'S T-R-C's. If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritic or neuritic pain, back-ache or sciatica, I am confident that T-R-C's will give you long-sought and welcome relief. If you do not yourself suffer, then I am confident that you know someone who does. I therefore urge you to accept my Free Trial Offer, either for yourself or a friend, to get comforting relief at last from dreadful pain. For a generous trial offer of Templeton's T-R-C's for yourself or for a friend, write me; Byrne Hope Sanders, now, at Confidentially Yours, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

DOGS MAY BE CREATURES OF HABIT but they like variety in their food. That's why dogs are such tail-waggers about the three delicious varieties of DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD... Chicken, Liver and Regular. Each one is a flavour your pet will eat with gusto... and each one contains all the nutrients he needs. Actual analysis has proved that Dr. Ballard's gives your dog up to 94% more nourishment than many of the so-called "bargain" brands selling at only a few cents less. So give your pet the best... Dr. Ballard's Champion Dog Food!

SO MANY OF THE IMPORTANT SECRETS of famous chefs are seasoning secrets... Some of them quite complicated and expensive. But here's one seasoning magic that's both simple and easy on the budget. All of us can now prepare meals with gourmet flavour by simply adding MAGGI CHICKEN BOUILLON CUBES. There's so much you can do with them! Include Maggi Cubes in your casserole recipes and in your stews, adding them to the boiling water when cooking vegetables, rice or macaroni. Your family will really appreciate the delightful difference. So look for the yellow and red Maggi Chicken Bouillon package next time you're at your grocer's.

MAGGI CUBES, NOW BEING TASTED

DEAR ABBY

He's All Yours, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has absolutely no sense of values. He likes nice things but he doesn't take care of them.

When we were first married (seven months ago) he had a nice wardrobe. But there is practically nothing left of it now. Everything is either torn, lost, or he burned a cigarette hole in it.

My husband thinks nothing of taking off his good clothes and letting them drop right on the floor. He wears his good shoes to work every day and will use a good T-shirt to buff them. (He says it has to go to the laundry anyway.)

Our nice collection of LP records would lay around out of their jackets collecting dust and scratches if I didn't take care of them. Our new furniture has cigarette burns and glass marks, and our rugs are all stained from things he has spilled. I am broken-hearted and depressed. Can you help me?

DISILLUSIONED BRIDE. DEAR BRIDE: It sounds like some mother turned her little boy over to you to finish raising. Face it. Your husband is a slob. Remind him gently (without nagging) to be more respectful of his clothing and the furniture. Pick up after him when he "forgets."

You took him for better or for worse. I've heard of better. But there are worse.

DEAR ABBY: Will you

please settle something for us? We are 44 women who meet once a week. We call ourselves The Club.

Recently an elderly woman in our town passed away. She was the mother of one of our members.

The Club sent a large floral bouquet to the funeral. Each member's name was on the card.

Don't you think that each member was entitled to a "thank you" note? And shouldn't the "thank you" notes have been sealed in an envelope and mailed with a 4c stamp?

A FEW OF THE MEMBERS.

DEAR MEMBERS: One letter of appreciation written to The Club president, thanking all the members jointly would have sufficed. Whether or not the letter was mailed in a sealed envelope with a 4c stamp seems to be a pretty petty point.

Confidential to "Needs to Know" (and about 100 other wives who beg to remain anonymous): If there is any question in your mind about what is "normal", I urge you to ask your doctor. He has heard everything, so you need not feel embarrassed.

What's your problem?

Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Queen's Former Press Secretary Marries Quietly in London Chapel

LONDON (Reuters) — Esmond Butler, 37-year-old secretary to the governor-general of Canada, was married quietly at the Queen's Chapel, Savoy, London, to Miss Georgina North, 31-year-old cousin of the Earl of Guilford.

The arrangements for the wedding, which had been described as "a family affair and wholly private," had been somewhat rushed because Butler only arrived here three days before.

Vesuvius Couple Honored

To celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary recently, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Duke of Vesuvius Bay, were honored by 100 friends at an afternoon party at home of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Sharland of Vesuvius.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke were married in 1910 in St. Andrew's Church, Vancouver. They made their home in that city before settling in Vesuvius Bay 15 years ago. They have one son, E. H. Duke, Vancouver.

Invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. Bates, F. J. C. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Irl Bradley, Dr. and Mrs. R. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Britton, Mrs. T. Caffie, Dr. Elwood Cox, Mrs. F. Lazenby, Mrs. Neil Smith, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Miss E. Smith, Mr. F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Thorburn, Miss A. Van Pelt, Mr. and Mrs. W.

C. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wrightson and Mrs. T. Woodworth.

After their wedding the couple were photographed leaving the chapel hand in hand. The bride wore a simply-cut ball-length dress of gleaming satin and framing her face was a small flower-trimmed hat. She carried a bouquet of bright spring flowers.

The bridegroom wore morning dress with a white carnation.

They will spend their honeymoon in England and fly to Canada next month.

Receives Names

An heirloom christening gown was worn by infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Esplen at a ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church recently. Gordon Richard were the names given the four-month-old baby. Canon R. Willis conducted ceremony. Baby's godparents are Mrs. Pauline Machan, Mr. Robert Esplen and Mrs. Stanley Machan for whom Mr. Fred Varney stood proxy. Mrs. E. Wood, Victoria, is the infant's maternal grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. John Esplen of Dauphin, Man., are paternal grandparents. A tea was held at home of the child's parents on Hampton Road after service.

Young Bridesmaids Choice of Princess

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret today named eight little girls—including her niece Princess Anne—to be her bridesmaids when she marries Antony Armstrong-Jones in Westminster Abbey May 6.

The oldest bridesmaid will be 12, and the youngest six.

The bridesmaids are: Princess Anne, nine; Marilyn Willis, 12, daughter of Major and the Hon. Mrs. John Willis; Anna-bell Rhodes, eight, daughter of Mr. and the Hon. Mrs. Denys Rhodes; Lady Virginia Fitzroy, six, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Euston; Sarah Lowther, six, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowther; The Hon. Catherine Vesey, six, daughter of Viscount and the Viscountess De Vesca and a niece of Tony Armstrong-Jones; Lady Rose Nevill, nine, daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Abergavenny; and Angela Nevill, 12, daughter of Lord and Lady Rupert Nevill.

Such a move had been expected, because the five-foot-tall Princess didn't want any bridesmaids to be taller than she was.

This will be the second time Princess Anne has been a bridesmaid. The first time was earlier this year when Lady Pamela Mountbatten married interior decorator David Hicks.

On that occasion she proved to be a perfect bridesmaid.

Meanwhile, Pelham Frank Dean today received a thank-you letter for table dishes he fashioned from a 200-year-old walnut tree as a wedding gift for Margaret.

Dean, a 68-year-old wood turner, made candelabra, a casket, and egg cup set and a fruit bowl from the tree blown down in the grounds of Windsor Castle.

Jennifer Lawther, the Princess' lady-in-waiting, wrote to thank Dean "most warmly" for the gifts and said "the Princess, particularly wanted to tell you that she is delighted with this lovely gift and with the craftsmanship."

DON'T CALL A CAB

Take a Bus

NEW YORK (AP) — The smart thing to do these days, if New Yorkers want to get their dinner guests to the theatre without a lot of unpleasant cab-hunting, is — take a bus.

Not just an ordinary bus, of course, but a posh, upholstered bus, with a bar and a white-coated waiter pouring the champagne.

Some of them even have food service and bridge tables.

The custom is spreading so that a transportation company, which is a big provider of limousines for special occasions, now is touting its buses for rent.

Engraved announcements to the social register quoted prices which range from $25 for a 28-passenger bus to $30 for a 41-passenger bus for 2½ hours.

AT DRAMA FESTIVAL

Burnaby Group Well Received

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Promising that this would be the last occasion on which he would set out to "educate the audience," adjudicator James E. Dean made some lively comments — with illustrations — on the technique of acting, Wednesday night.

This was the mid-way point in the British Columbia Region of the Dominion Drama Festival; the play, "Edwina Black," as presented by Burnaby Little Theatre.

WHAT TO WATCH

The capsule course on acting "points" you can watch for during the next three nights, included reference to speech defects, meaningless and repetitive gestures, movement without motivation, "standing and shuffling" and "furniture-grabbing."

EDWINA BLACK

William Dinning and William Morum Presented by Burnaby Little Theatre
Cast in order of appearance:
Gregory Black, Freda Butcher, Elizabeth Graham (companion to late Edwina Black), Christine Best, Henry Martin, Brian Butcher, Gregory Black (late Edwina's husband), Peter Statner.
Director: Reg Bristow.

Mr. Dean described the Burnaby Little Theatre choice as "a technically well-made play" — it had a properly designated beginning, middle and end — but he added, "well-made plays are not always the easiest to do because they are so predictable."

He said that the setting was good, furniture beautiful, costumes delightful. The director, he considered, had understood what the play was about.

PACE TOO SLOW

There had been quite good grouping but the adjudicator had found movement throughout not motivated and the pace too slow.

"But the thing that worried me most was audibility."

THEY ALL BROUGHT THEIR CATS, TOO

He Didn't Have to Act As a Scotland Yard Man

Brian Butcher, a Scotland Yard man before he migrated to B.C. in September, 1953, played the role of a Scotland Yard detective in the British Columbia Regional Drama Festival Wednesday night.

He was cast with his wife, Freda, in the English mystery thriller "Edwina Black." There are only four characters in the two-and-a-half-hour play and the other two parts were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Statner, also immigrants from London, England.

"Stocky, dark-haired Mr. Butcher, who played Detective Inspector Henry Martin, worked for Scotland Yard and the London metropolitan police for 20 years."

Originally an engineer, he joined the force at Lambeth in 1933 and was later transferred to the vehicle maintenance depot at Hendon.

After war service he was promoted to Scotland Yard as liaison officer between the engineering department and the commissioner's office.

"This work brought me into close contact with all branches of police and detective work, and I co-operated with them in the testing and improvement of vehicles used by the Yard."

In 1953 Mr. Butcher had the arduous job of organizing police traffic during the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

"It was something of a nightmare," he said, "and when it was all over my wife and I decided to try our luck abroad."

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher and their fellow immigrants, Mr. and Mrs. Statner, now live at Burnaby and are prominent members of the Burnaby Little Theatre group.

They arrived in Victoria on Tuesday and brought their pet cats with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher are accompanied by their black-and-white tabby, Simon, who was born in London in 1946 and migrated with them to Canada in 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. Statner are travelling with their Burnaby-born tabby "Winkie." The two cats are staying with both families at Hillside Auto Court.

"They were pretty restless the first night," Mrs. Statner confided, "and none of us got much sleep."

Simon, an accomplished feline actor, appeared with his master and mistress in a play last year.

"When we left London we were afraid he might not take kindly to Canadian life," Mrs. Butcher said, "but he settled down quite quickly and is now an established personality with our theatre group."

Sir Bernard Heinze, originally slated to conduct the Victoria Symphony Orchestra with pianist Glen Gould as guest artist here Sunday and Monday, has been taken ill.

SHE HASN'T A THING TO WEAR 'Bewitched' Girl's Dresses Come Apart

By RUKMINI DEVI
BOMBAY (CP)—A 12-year-old Hindu schoolgirl has become the victim of a queer phenomenon baffling priests and laymen alike.

Bimla, a resident of Siphani village in the Gaziabad district of Uttar Pradesh State, has been attracting a number of investigators who find no explanation for the fact that the moment she puts on her dress it just tears into rags.

The influential Times of India reports: "The strange phenomenon first manifested itself five weeks ago when Bimla returned home from school one evening. Small holes were visible on her clothes. Later the holes assumed the shape of long cuts. However strong the fibre of the cloth all her frocks and shawls (pyjamas) have been torn at many places and the family is faced with the problem of finding new clothes for her."

It reported that Bimla is not aware as to when exactly her clothes tear. The paper quotes her as saying that "a dark complexioned woman-clad in a white sari appears in my dreams and asks me to accompany her or else she threatened to harass me by tearing off my clothes and cutting off my hair."

Other Indian papers report that hundreds of curious people, some from 100 miles away, have been visiting the Bimla home.

Other villagers believe the girl has been seized by an evil spirit and have asked her father, a village official, to take steps to "exorcise" the spirit.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS—They talk big here sometimes—and now they're saying that one day Ethel Merman's going to play "Gypsy" at "The Riv."

"The Riv" is what the rounders (the non-squares) call the skyscraper Riviera Hotel. I phoned Ethel about it. In her beloved bellow, she said, "You think anybody'd listen to me sing when they could just as easily be gambling?" 'Tisn't impossible that she'll do it, though nobody's asked her yet, she added. But Ethel, a hip femme, knew all about "The Riv"—presenting condensed versions of "Lil Abner," "Pajama Game," "Damn Yankees"—and now a 79-minute "World of Suzie Wong" to the lovers of the fine arts who come here to shoot craps. And I thought she sounded interested; it seemed to me that in her voice I heard the rustle of money.

PEGGY LEE
... $12,500 a week

Ethel wasn't at all scared of the chore of two shows a night. "Do you think people'd stay up that late to hear us?" she asked—evidently forgetting they never go to bed here. "Well, if there was a favorable deal..." she said, adding that it could hardly be done until two years from now because of Broadway commitments.

Before this talk, the Beautiful Wife and I had left a lot of winnings at the roulette table (the house's winnings) to sit in the dining room and watch "Suzie Wong."

Seventeen-year-old, 98-pound Jeri Miykazaki had the France Nuyen role.

Born in a Japanese internment camp outside Sacramento during the war, she's now proudly battling Producer David Merrick over her contract.

"He's a very, very stubborn man—but I'm going to break him!" Jeri said with a nice sense of humor, over a soft drink after the show.

ask Andy HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas of Globe.

Address four questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Was the Dodo an Imaginary Bird?

No, he was not an imaginary bird, but none of us will ever see a live dodo. For there are no dodos in the world today and there will never be dodos again. Their tragic story began long ago on the island of Mauritius off the eastern coast of Africa. In ancient times, this was the home of the dodos, who were distantly related to our pigeons. There were also dodo cousins on nearby islands.

Rough seas pounded at the rocky shores and blustery gales whistled over the land. The climate here was so rough that no bird could take safely to the air. Any bird that tried to fly was either swept off of sight like a lost kite or dashed to pieces on the ground.

This poor flying weather took its toll of the dodo ancestors. Those that tried to fly did not live long enough to grow up and have children. Through the generations, the flying dodos were weeded out. Now, as we know, children

Proved Good to Eat

They discovered too that the meaty fellows were good to eat. And the dodos, poor dodos, were not smart enough to save themselves. The men brought pigs and monkeys to the islands and still the dodos made no effort to save themselves. Each dodo family produced but one egg at a time—both parents nestled on the egg and later worked together to bring up the chick. This means that the dodos did not multiply at a great rate. And, sad to say, the parent birds did not even know how to save their eggs or their precious chicks from the pigs and the monkeys.

The men did not realize what was happening—or perhaps they did not care. The

Which planet was discovered first?

Mankind has been a star gazer since earliest times. Men were charting the paths of the heavenly bodies thousands of years before the dawn of modern history. The heavenly parade of stars and planets, the eclipses of the sun and moon have been recorded from ancient times. Then, early in the 1600s, the telescope was invented and man's vision of the heavens was extended.

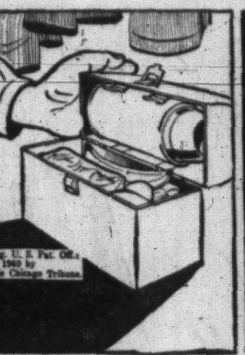

Without a telescope, we can see the planets Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. These planets were known and named before modern history and no one would say which was discovered first. Uranus was discovered in 1781 and Neptune was discovered in 1846. Little Pluto was discovered in 1930.

PGE HIGHWAY BLOCKED BY 150-FT. LANDSLIDE

VANCOUVER (CP) — A rockslide blocked both the Horseshoe Bay-Squamish Highway and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line about three miles south of Britannia Beach today.

The slide, about 150 feet wide and 10 to 20 feet deep, included a number of huge boulders which would make it difficult to clear, a PGE spokesman said.

UN URGED TO ACT ON AFRICA

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The 29-nation Afro-Asian group decided today to demand Security Council consideration of the "mass killings of unarmed and peaceful demonstrators against racial discrimination and segregationist laws" in South Africa.

Ambassador Omar Abdel Hamid Adefel of Sudan, chairman of the group, said the request would be filed formally Friday with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, security council president for March, for an immediate meeting.

Adefel called council action imperative for the peace of the world.

The move followed shortly after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said the UN was entitled to discuss the South African race riots.

'CONVICT GOING BACK AFTER OTHER ONE'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — One of two tough convicts holding 16 hostages at Tennessee State prison talked with prison authorities today in an apparent surrender bid. He then went back to try to get his partner to join him.

Convict Robert Rivera emerged briefly shortly before noon and a prison official said "he's going back after the other one," Raymond Farra.

The two convicts, armed with pistols believed smuggled into the prison, seized more than 70 hostages about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and barricaded themselves in a deputy warden's office.

They later freed all but 18 hostages and then let two more go when they became ill.

Answer Sought To Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly here this weekend to confer with President Eisenhower on how to meet the challenge of the latest Soviet proposal to ban nuclear weapons tests.

A White House announcement of the sudden trip said Macmillan was coming here at the president's suggestion.

The announcement came as high officials here reported Britain and the U.S. have been divided over exactly how to counter the new Soviet formula.

The Eisenhower administration so far has not agreed within itself whether the Soviet plan should be rejected or whether a counter proposal should be made.

The White House said Macmillan will fly to Washington Saturday and that he and the president will begin their talks Monday on "the latest phase of the Geneva nuclear test negotiations."

This phase came when Russia last week accepted the president's Feb. 11 proposal to ban all space, atmospheric and ocean nuclear weapons tests and all underground blasts above the level of 15 kilotons.

RIG CONDITION

But Russia added a big condition which the Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon do not want to accept.

This condition is that the smaller underground tests, below the range of 15 kilotons, also would be banned for four or five years under a "moratorium" while Soviet and Western scientists try to agree on how to detect possible bootleg blasts in the low range.

Britain was reported by high officials here to have been pressing the U.S. to accept the new Soviet offer as it stands.

The Russian proposal is almost identical with one the British advanced themselves last year and they believe the western powers should seize it without further ado.

The U.S. has always insisted that it will not agree to even a temporary suspension of blasts which defy detection under agreed procedures.

Many officials believe the Soviet proposal, with its moratorium on small tests, was deliberately designed to put the U.S. on the defensive because of a series of such experiments planned in this country for late summer.

Chairman John McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and Pentagon officials have said another round of small tests is vital to American security because of the necessity to improve the nuclear warheads for the minute and polaris missiles, refine the army's present clumsy tactical nuclear bomb and do some more work on the mechanism of the projected antimissile missile.

WIRE BRIEFS

Chicago Loses Hull

MONTREAL (UPI) — Bobby Hull, National Hockey League scoring champion, will be out of the Chicago Black Hawks lineup tonight when they open their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series with the favored Montreal Canadiens.

Hull, 21, who scored 39 goals during the regular season, entered a hospital today with a strep throat.

Jury Spares Killer

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Larry Lord Motherwell, convicted of killing an elderly Washington, D.C., widow, was spared today from execution in the San Quentin gas chamber. The jury that convicted Motherwell of first degree murder decided today his sentence should be life imprisonment.

Bank Rate Declines

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate, in its third successive major decline, dropped to 3.66 per cent from 4.17 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

Extend Winter Work

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal winter works program will be extended to May 31 from April 30, Labor Minister Starr announced today in the Commons.

Four Dead In Plane

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — Searchers shortly before noon today reached the charred wreckage of an air force C45 plane carrying three men and a woman. The civil air patrol said all four persons were dead.

Quake Causes Panic

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — A strong earthquake jolted large sections of France, Italy and Switzerland today, touching off momentary panic in a few towns and villages. No casualties or extensive damage were reported.

The federal government has offered British Columbia a huge loan at just above the going money market rates — rather than any outright grant — as Ottawa's share of the proposed billion-dollar hydro development of the Columbia River, it was learned today.

WHAT OFFER, SAYS OTTAWA

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA — Federal government officials denied today B.C. has been offered a loan for developing the Columbia River.

For the record, British Columbia and the federal government have not yet discussed details of financial arrangements to be made on the Columbia. The reason: they do not know yet what projects will be built, and they won't know until agreement is reached with the U.S.

Ottawa has been talking in terms of a 50 per cent split of costs, but it has not been determined yet what the 50 per cent will cover — transmission lines, dams, turbines, access roads.

East Still Wintery

CHICAGO (AP) — A blizzard hit upper Michigan today and biting winds spread near zero cold across northern areas of the midwestern United States.

WANT TO QUIT SOUTH AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The Canadian and Australian trade commissions here said Wednesday they are being flooded with inquiries from South Africans about the prospects of emigrating to Canada and Australia.

The Canadian commission said it received up to 70 queries daily since Monday, compared with two or three queries a day prior to Monday's riots.

City Man Stabbed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Victoria man staggered into a motel office here early today and collapsed on the floor with a knife wound in his shoulder. While officers arrested a 27-year-old woman in connection with the incident at the Kingsway Motel, police were also investigating the stabbing of a teen-ager in a South Vancouver home.

Detained in hospital following the motel stabbing was James Storey Clarke, 39-year-old painter. Police said the arrested woman checked into the motel with him the previous evening, and the cabin showed signs of a drinking party had preceded the stabbing.

They said they found a blood-stained penknife on the cabin floor.

Police were called to the South Vancouver home after the father of a 16-year-old girl reported his wife had attacked their daughter with a 10-inch carving knife.

Voting Rights for Negroes Protected in New U.S. Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today overrode southern opposition and finally passed a five-point civil rights bill which features a new federal system for protecting Negro voters.

On passage of the bill 179 Democrats voted with 132 Republicans to pass the bill. Voting against passage were 94 Democrats and 45 Republicans.

The measure now goes to the Senate which has been deadlocked on its own civil rights legislation for more than five weeks. The Senate was expected to pass the House bill pretty much as it now stands but southern foes were set to wage a stubborn battle against it.

APPROVAL PREDICTED

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has predicted Senate approval of the controversial bill within two or three weeks.

The House measure would authorize the use of court-appointed federal referees who could step in to safeguard Negro voting rights in any southern area where abuses are proven.

Required local officials to preserve election records for two years and permit federal authorities to inspect them.

Make it a federal crime to obstruct school integration orders by force or threats of violence.

Make it a federal crime to cross a state line to escape prosecution for bombing or threatening to bomb any building or vehicle. This could be used against "hate bombers" of schools, churches and synagogues.

Provide federal funds for schooling servicemen's children in cases where local schools are closed in integration disputes.

The bill in general follows along lines recommended by President Eisenhower, especially on the voting referee section. It won bipartisan support from northern Democrats and most Republicans.

Tension continued high today in the Vereeniging area south of Johannesburg and around Langa and Nyanga near Capetown, scenes of disturbances this week.

Vereeniging had an air of "tangible gloom and depression" today.

Tony: The Man Margaret Wanted

This is the second of two dispatches in which a noted reporter charts the future, on the basis of information from royal sources, of Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong-Jones after they are married.

By ROBERT MUSSEL

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Armstrong-Jones, will be marrying the most eligible girl in the world in Westminster Abbey May 6, but despite the beauty and eminence of his bride, a great many Britons will not be envying him.

For marriage into the rarified heights of the Royal Family carries with it problems that were never Tony's when he drained pipe levis and a leather jacket he bounded around the town with his camera, carefree and happy in his chosen profession.

This uncomplicated existence of building a photographic business by day and relaxing with the Bohemia Chelsea crowd by night came to an end last month when his engagement was announced to Princess Margaret.

He had to give up his photographic studio — for the Royal Family traditionally does not engage in trade.

He had to give up his little basement apartment under the studio — for a suite of rooms at Buckingham Palace.

And now, behind the vast stone front of the 690-room home of the Windsors, his future is being discussed. Even the most vigilant critics of the Royal Family will have nothing to cavil at here. For Tony is Margaret's choice and the Windsors want nothing but happiness for them.

But how this can best be achieved is not yet quite clear, according to an authoritative royal source.

Tony never earned in his best years enough money to support Princess Margaret in the luxury to which she is accustomed. His position as her husband does not call for any financial payment from the Queen's civil list.

Hence he will have to live on Margaret's state grant of £5,000 ($42,000) a year and the interest from her considerable personal fortune. He probably doesn't like this but it is one of the hazards of marrying a princess.

This royal source said Tony probably will receive a title, but it may not be for two or three years unless the Princess makes a direct request before then to her sister, Queen Elizabeth.

He Wouldn't Let a Negro Give His Children a Bath

CAPETOWN (AP)—Hendrik Verwoerd smiles easily. But he may be the most uncompromising of the three prime ministers of South Africa whose policies of white supremacy have stirred controversy and violence since 1948.

A breezy six-footer with blue eyes and grey hair, Verwoerd (pronounced fair-voort) built a reputation as the driving force behind rigid apartheid, or racial segregation, during the regimes of his late predecessors, Daniel Malan and Johannes Strijdom. He also became known as the political and social theorist of the Nationalist party movement.

QUOTES BIBLE
Verwoerd expounds fervently his beliefs on race from the background of a trained psychologist. Like many of South Africa's nationalists, he is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church and cites Old Testament references for justification of his policies.

South Africa's 10,000,000 Negroes and 3,000,000 whites, he says, must live apart just as do the lion and the elephant. He has boasted that none of his seven children was bathed or cared for by a Negro nurse. Recently he said South Africa's problem was one of "ensuring the survival of the white race here, and at the same time doing justice to the non-whites in their sphere."

Disorders this week, in which non-whites protested against compulsory identification passes, were the result of an attempt at mass revolt, he said.

The prime minister views the nationalist independence movement in African countries as the work of ambitious political agitators, not as the demand of the "black masses."

HE GOT JAIL INSTEAD OF WEDDING

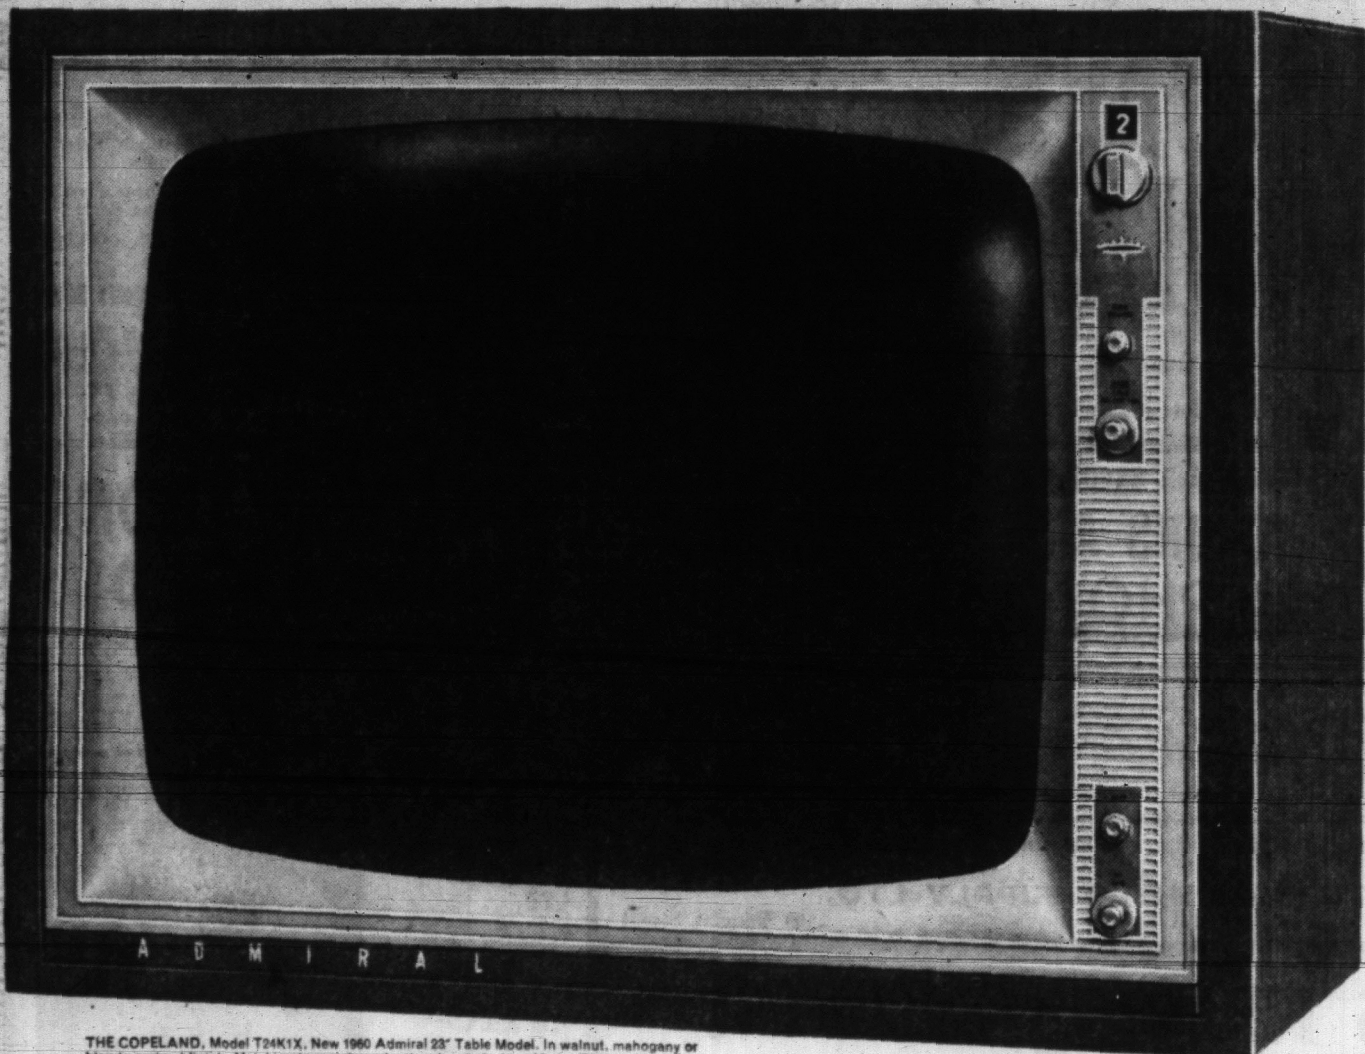

VANCOUVER (CP) — A theft intended to aid a young couple to marry resulted in a 14-month jail sentence for the would-be groom.

Glenn Terry Dunphy, 20, was convicted Wednesday of stealing $1,000 worth of articles and a $6,000 car from a Vancouver home.

A companion, Edward Thomas Wishart, 18, was remanded to March 30 after pleading guilty to joint charges.

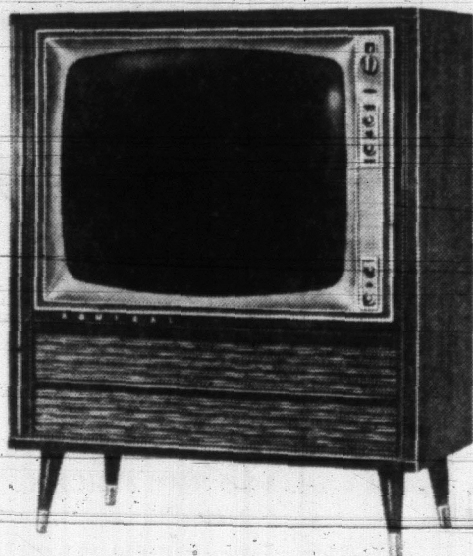

Wishart told the court the theft was committed with the idea of selling the articles to help Dunphy and a girl friend marry. The girl is pregnant.

Council Slashes at Budget But City Taxes Sure to Rise

$22 Grant Hike 'Out the Window'

Two-thirds of a proposed $70,500 mercury lighting program for residential areas was slashed by an aldermanic committee today in an effort to cut back 1960 estimates to last year's levels.

City lighting committee swung an axe 16 times to cut $52,665 from the $234,805 gross estimates for ordinary and capital spending.

This kept the increase over last year's $180,229 gross estimate down to $1,900.

"It seems almost impossible for us to avoid an increase in the city budget this year, so we've just got to start cutting down somewhere," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgell.

"We're not cutting indiscriminately but on a realistic basis," he added.

City council is expected to attack the completed estimates of all departments in the first week of May to fashion the 1960 budget by the May 15 deadline set in the Municipal Act.

Present indications are that the estimates will point at a four-mill increase or more this year—which would almost wipe out the $28 homeowners' grant increase ($22 to $50).

LIGHTING CUT

The committee whittled $11,015 from the $164,280 estimates for ordinary expenditures on street lighting.

But it ripped $41,650 out of the $70,525 proposed capital program to keep the overall lighting budget down. All of the capital program was for extension of the mercury lighting system along arterial roads in the residential areas.

Recommended for approval were:

Mercury lights along Oak Bay Avenue from McGregor to Foul Bay Road; Cook from Pandora to Dallas Road; Burnside from Douglas to Harriet; and Pandora from Quadra to Cook.

THROWN OUT

Tossed out for this year were:

Fort from Cook to Foul Bay Road; Hillside from Douglas to Shelbourne; Gorge from Government to Harriet; Yates from Cook to Fort and Wharf from Johnson to Government.

At the same time, Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said he will oppose a proposal to replace downtown cluster lights with mercury lamps.

He suggested that replacement of the 30-watt bulbs in the cluster lights with 100-watt bulbs would overcome the lack of lighting in the downtown area.

WORSE HAZARD

But lighting superintendent Kenneth Reid said that would double the glare problem and increase existing traffic hazards caused by the cluster light system.

He said the cluster lights were so low that they were in a driver's line of vision as he looked down a block.

This created special dangers for bus drivers on rainy nights. Increasing wattage would only result in increased accidents, he said.

Public works committee was to begin hacking at its estimates Friday.

STUDENT CANVASS

Gala Kickoff On Campus

A sign-raising, parade, and launching of a students' drive for funds have been scheduled for next Wednesday to mark the start of new construction at Victoria University.

At 3 p.m. Works Minister W. N. Chant will raise a sign on the campus to mark the site of a $250,000 classroom building, first construction work on the undertaking which will give Victoria a full-fledged university.

More than 1,000 students, provincial, civic and university officials, and representatives of business and professional groups, will be on hand for the ceremony.

IMMEDIATE START

Immediately it is completed Farmer Construction Co., which was awarded a $12,182 contract for excavations, will begin work on the project.

At 3:30 p.m. a cavalcade of cars carrying students will leave the university for a downtown parade to be directed by Ron Farquhar.

The university band will be in the lead, with Marion Ardley, students' council president, in the first car. Campus queen Lynne Alexander will follow in the second, and Joan Moffat, Homecoming queen, will be in the third car, John Anderson, next students' council president, will be fourth.

POLICE ESCORT

The first 25 cars in the cavalcade, which will carry banners announcing the start of the drive for funds, will have police escort. Remaining cars will be governed by regular traffic controls.

The parade will disband at the Gordon Head campus, where students will assemble in the drill hall for a hot dog meal and briefing before picking up kits and setting out on their canvass of Greater Victoria homes at 6:45 p.m.

It is expected the canvass will be over at 9 p.m. After returns are compiled there will be dancing from 10 to midnight.

Former UBC Professor Dies at 72

Prof. Thorleif Larsen, a member of the University of British Columbia English department from 1919 to 1958, has died in Vancouver aged 72.

Born in Sponviken, Norway, he came to British Columbia in 1890, obtained his M.A. degree from the University of Toronto in 1907 and was named Rhodes scholar for British Columbia.

Prof. Larsen taught at Victoria High on return from Oxford in 1911, then practised law from 1915 to 1917 when he enlisted in the Canadian Army.

In 1919 he became a lecturer in English at UBC.

The funeral will be held Friday in Vancouver.

Survivors include the widow, Irene; three sons, including Edward Larsen, headmaster at Shawinigan Lake School, and a daughter, Miss Mary Jeanne Larsen, of Victoria.

Bigamy Charge Against Woman

A Victoria woman accused of having two husbands since 1955 was charged in city police court today with bigamy.

Ruby Maxine Kandall, also known as Ruby Maxine Billett, 1541 Burton, was remanded to Friday for election at request of counsel Alan Bigelow.

It is charged that the accused committed bigamy Dec. 21, 1955, when she went through a form of marriage to Clarence Billett, at which time she was married to Kenneth Tunai Kandall.

HONG KONG RECEIVES JAYCEE CLOTHING GIFT

Three thousand pounds of used clothing collected by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce were delivered in Hong Kong Wednesday, for distribution to the needy by six welfare organizations.

The clothing was transported in three RCN Pacific Command destroyer escorts based at Esquimalt. HMC Ships Saguenay, Ottawa, and St. Laurent are on an extended training cruise which includes operations with USN units.

C. M. Forsyth-Smith, Canadian trade commissioner in Hong Kong, made the presentation on behalf of the Jaycees to Alex S. C. Wu, president of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber.

Diver's Death Plea Not Guilty

Two pleas of "not guilty" to the water and taken to hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

First witness was Staff Sgt. John Stanley Jones, RCMP, in charge of "E" division identification section who took certain photographs and prepared a plan of the site.

Herbert Murray Stockall, Sidney, a director of Shoal Harbor Marine Service Ltd., made his own plea on a charge of criminal negligence, while defence counsel Gerald A. Lauder entered a similar plea on behalf of the company.

Crown prosecutor Alan Macfarlane said the Crown case against the accused and his company rested on the fact Stockall "did certain (electrical) wiring" on the marina floats, and the Crown would show the wiring "was improperly done."

The wiring, he said, was "dangerous." Willoughby, a skin diver, was seen to come to a float from the water at the marina when "something happened."

It was believed he was electrocuted when he touched an electrical outlet.

Student Gets Off In Liquor Theft

John Clifford Isherwood, now a first-year arts student at the University of Oregon, was acquitted by an Assize Court jury Wednesday evening of stealing a case of whisky from the Uplands Golf Club last December.

Isherwood, formerly of Victoria, left the court a free man after George Gregory, his counsel, had argued that the police evidence of theft was inconclusive.

The jury took only 20 minutes to consider its verdict. Earlier, two Oak Bay constables told of being called to the club at 4:35 p.m., on December 11, when they searched for a missing case of whisky.

Constable Edward Parry said he found it buried in a pile of leaves and Constable Ralph Sinden hid nearby.

About 5:30 p.m., Constable Sinden said, a car pulled up opposite the pile of leaves and turned out its lights.

He saw the accused step out of the car, come through a laurel hedge, step over a stone fence and take a couple of strides past the pile of leaves.

SCRAPED LEAVES
He then turned to look both ways, Constable Sinden said, and then he turned round, squatted down, scraped the leaves away from the top of the case, and put his arms down into the leaves as if to lift the case.

"He turned his head as he had his arms down in the leaves—he turned his head and he looked at me and he stepped back."

"I said: 'That is it, Isherwood.' And he said 'I don't know what you are talking about.'"

BIRTHDAY BOUQUETS FROM FAR AND WIDE

Hard to Go Slow at 100

Queen Elizabeth cabled her congratulations Wednesday to Mrs. Catherine Davy, celebrating her 100th birthday at a tea party at St. Charles Nursing Home.

"I wish everyone wouldn't go to all this trouble," smiled Mrs. Davy as gifts, cards and telegrams poured in from far and wide.

"After all, it's only a birthday." Congratulations reached her from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, Lieut.-Gov. Frank Mackenzie-Ross and Premier Bennett. And many more came from friends and relatives.

BUSY FINGERS

"I feel just as I always feel," said Mrs. Davy who was born March 23, 1860 at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and came to Victoria 25 years ago.

She sat in the centre of an admiring group of 30 guests at the tea party in the nursing home, and all the time her fingers were busy crocheting a delicate piece of handwork.

"I can't be still for long—I have to keep active," Mrs. Davy said.

LARGE CAKE

Mrs. Gordon McArthur, proprietor of the nursing home, said Mrs. Davy only wears spectacles for crocheting.

In the dining room a large cake inscribed "Happy 100th Birthday" adorned the tea table, flanked by a large bowl of pink roses and freesia and pink candles.

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson presided.

Mrs. Davy has a son, Garret W. Davy, and one daughter, Mrs. F. J. Whitworth, living in Victoria. Each have two grandchildren so there are four living generations of the family.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Receives Names

An heirloom christening gown was worn by infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Esplen at a ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church recently. Gordon Richard were the names given the four-month-old baby. Canon R. Willis conducted ceremony. Baby's godparents are Mrs. Pauline Machan, Mr. Robert Esplen and Mrs. Stanley Machan for whom Mr. Fred Varney stood proxy. Mrs. E. Wood, Victoria, is the infant's maternal grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. John Esplen of Dauphin, Man., are paternal grandparents. A tea was held at home of the child's parents on Hampton Road after service.

Young Bridesmaids Choice of Princess

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret today named eight little girls—including her niece Princess Anne—to be her bridesmaids when she marries Antony—Armstrong-Jones—in Westminster Abbey May 6.

The oldest bridesmaid will be 12, and the youngest six.

The bridesmaids are: Princess Anne, nine; Marilyn Wills, 12, daughter of Major and the Hon. Mrs. John Wills; Anna-Rhodes, eight, daughter of Mr. and the Hon. Mrs. Denis Rhodes; Lady Virginia Fitzroy, six, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Euston; Sarah Lowther, six, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowther;

The Hon. Catherine Vesey, six, daughter of Viscount and Viscountess De Vesca and a niece of Tony Armstrong-Jones; Lady Rose Nevill, nine, daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Abergavenny; and Angela Nevill, 12, daughter of Lord and Lady Rupert Nevill.

Such a move had been expected, because the five-foot-tall Princess didn't want any bridesmaids to be taller than she was.

This will be the second time Princess Anne has been a bridesmaid. The first time was earlier this year when Lady Pamela Mountbatten married interior decorator David Hicks.

On that occasion she proved to be a perfect bridesmaid.

Meanwhile, Pelham Frank Dean today received a "thank you" letter for table dishes he fashioned from a 200-year-old walnut tree as a wedding gift for Margaret.

Dean, a 68-year-old wood turner, made candelabra, a cruet, and egg cup set and a fruit bowl from the tree blown down in the grounds of Windsor Castle.

Jennifer Lawther, the Princess' lady-in-waiting, wrote to thank Dean "most warmly" for the gifts and said "the Princess" particularly wanted to tell you that she is delighted with this lovely gift and with the craftsmanship.

Fulton Mum on 'Secret' Hydro Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton refused today to comment on reports that a secret meeting was held here Monday between Canadian and U.S. authorities on development of the Columbia River. Answering H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West), he said in the Commons that any statement at this time would not be in the public interest. When discussions had been concluded he would report to the House.

Mr. K. Denies
Trying to Split
Western Allies

PARIS (CP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev today repudiated the idea he is trying to use his 12-day visit here to drive a wedge between France and her Western allies.

The premier, who arrived Wednesday, addressed a luncheon following a two-hour private talk with President De Gaulle.

At a city hall reception after the luncheon, Khrushchev called for a French-Soviet alliance as a necessity to ensure the security of the two countries. He repeated his warning of Wednesday about the "dangers" of German militarism.

In a statement Wednesday night, Khrushchev called upon France to join the Soviet Union in combating the revival of German militarism. Some diplomats viewed this as an open effort to break France's strong alliance with West Germany.

NO CLASH INVOLVED

But the Kremlin leader declared today that Soviet-French co-operation did not mean the surrender of present alliances or ideologies. Such co-operation has no limits because the interests of France and Russia do not clash anywhere, he said.

He also repeated his call for an East-West pact of non-aggression.

OUTRIGHT GRANT EXPECTED

Columbia Loan
'Offer' Shocks B.C.By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff WriterWHAT OFFER, SAYS OTTAWA

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA—Federal government officials denied today that B.C. has been offered a loan for developing the Columbia River.

For the record, British Columbia and the federal government have not yet discussed details of financial arrangements to be made on the Columbia. The reason they do not know yet what projects will be built, and they want to know until agreement is reached with the U.S.

Ottawa has been talking in terms of a 50 per cent split of costs, but it has not been determined yet what the 50 per cent will cover—transmission lines, dams, turbines, access roads.

The federal government has offered British Columbia a huge loan at just above the going money market rates—rather than any outright grant—as Ottawa's share of the proposed billion-dollar hydro development of the Columbia River, it was learned today.

Government sources declined to make any direct comment. But they clearly indicated that the provincial cabinet, from Premier Bennett down, is not happy about the offer.

An outright grant from Ottawa had been expected to help finance the joint project, which would cost a maximum of close to $1,400,000,000 for full development of the big river.

The federal government had been expected to shoulder about 50 per cent of the cost. The federal proposal is said to involve a loan of between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000.

A-BAN TEST TALKS

British PM
Flying to U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly here this weekend to confer with President Eisenhower on how to meet the challenge of the latest Soviet proposal to ban nuclear weapons tests.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Time has forced British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to turn down an invitation to visit Ottawa, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said today.

City Man
Stabbed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Victoria man staggered into a motel office here early today and collapsed on the floor with a knife wound in his shoulder. While officers arrested a 27-year-old woman in connection with the incident at the Kingsway Motel, police were also investigating the stabbing of a teenager in a South Vancouver home.

Detained in hospital following the motel stabbing was James Storey Clarke, 39-year-old painter. Police said the arrested woman checked into the motel with him the previous evening, and the cabin showed signs a drinking party had preceded the stabbing.

They said they found a blood-stained penknife on the cabin floor. Police were called to the South Vancouver home after the father of a 16-year-old girl reported his wife had attacked their daughter with a 10-inch carving knife.

Chicago Loses Hull

MONTREAL (UPI)—Bobby Hull, National Hockey League scoring champion, will be out of the Chicago Black Hawks lineup tonight when they open their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series with the favored Montreal Canadiens. Hull, 21, who scored 39 goals during the regular season, entered a hospital today with a strep throat.

This phase came when Russia last week accepted the president's Feb. 11 proposal to ban all space, atmospheric and ocean nuclear weapons tests and all underground blasts above the level of 19 kilotons.

BIG CONDITION

But Russia added a big condition which the Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon do not want to accept. This condition is that the smaller underground tests, below the range of 19 kilotons, also would be banned for four or five years under a "moratorium" while Soviet and Western scientists try to agree on how to detect possible bootleg blasts in the low range.

Britain was reported by high officials here to have been pressing the U.S. to accept the new Soviet offer as it stands.

The Russian proposal is almost identical with one the British advanced themselves last year and they believe the western powers should seize it without further ado.

The U.S. has always insisted that it will not agree to even a temporary suspension of blasts which defy detection under agreed procedures.

Many officials believe the Soviet proposal, with its moratorium on small tests, was deliberately designed to put the U.S. on the defensive because of a series of such experiments planned in this country for later summer.

Chairman John McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and Pentagon officials have said another round of small tests is vital to American security because of the necessity to improve the nuclear warheads for the minuteman and polaris missiles, refine the army's present clumsy tactical nuclear bomb and do some more work on the mechanism of the projected anti-missile missile.

CONVICTS SURRENDER

ROBERT RIVERA

RAYMOND FARRA

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Two convicts who held 16 hostages in the Tennessee State prison for more than 24 hours surrendered this afternoon. All hostages walked out of the deputy warden's office, where they had been held prisoners behind a heavy barricade, unharmed. Earlier in the day the two hardened criminals came out individually into the prison yard and talked surrender terms with officials. The pair, armed with pistols, believed smuggled into the prison, seized more than 70 hostages Wednesday and later freed all but 18 and then let two more go when they became ill.

Bill Protects Voting Rights
For Negroes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The controversial bill within the House today overrode southern opposition and finally passed a five-point civil rights bill which features a new federal system for protecting Negro voters.

On passage of the bill 179 Democrats voted with 132 Republicans to pass the bill. Voting against passage were 94 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

The measure now goes to the Senate which has been deadlocked on its own civil rights legislation for more than five weeks. The senate was expected to pass the House bill pretty much as it now stands but southern foes were set to wage a stubborn battle against it.

The House measure would authorize the use of court-appointed federal referees who could step in to safeguard Negro voting rights in any southern area where abuses are proven.

Require local officials to preserve election records for two years and permit federal authorities to inspect them.

Make it a federal crime to obstruct school integration orders by force or threats of violence.

Make it a federal crime to cross a state line to escape prosecution for bombing or threatening to bomb any building or vehicle. This could be used against "hate bombers" of schools, churches and synagogues.

Provide federal funds for schooling servicemen's children in cases where local schools are closed in integration disputes.

The bill in general follows along lines recommended by President Eisenhower, especially on the voting referee section. It won bipartisan support from northern Democrats and most Republicans.

ROYAL MARRIAGE NOT 'ARRANGED'

Tony: The Man Margaret Wanted

This is the second of two dispatches in which a noted reporter charts the future, on the basis of information from royal sources, of Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong Jones after they are married.

Afro-Asian Group
Demands Action

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The 29-nation Afro-Asian group decided today to demand Security Council consideration of the "mass killings of unarmed and peaceful demonstrators against racially discriminatory and segregationist laws" in South Africa.

Ambassador Omar Abdel Hamid Adee of Sudan, chairman of the group, said the request would be filed formally Friday with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, security council president for March, for an immediate meeting.

Adee called council action imperative for the peace of the world.

The move followed shortly after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said the UN was entitled to discuss the South African race riots.

Public Meetings
Placed Under Ban

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—The crackdown followed a declaration by the African National Congress that Monday should be observed as a day of mourning for more than 70 Negroes killed by police gunfire earlier this week.

Chief Albert Luthuli, banned president of the congress, called on "Africans and all other sections of the people" to mark the day of mourning for Negroes killed in towns around Johannesburg and Capetown Monday and Tuesday.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd served notice in Parliament Wednesday that the government was studying "certain serious measures" to meet a threatened congress resistance campaign.

Tension continued high today in the Vereeniging area south of Johannesburg and around Langsa and Nyanga near Capetown, scenes of disturbances this week.

Vereeniging had an air of "tangible gloom and depression" today.
